INTRODUCTION

A very warm welcome to the second edition of the Irish Football Handbook!

It's hardly credible that twelve months have passed since we launched our debut edition with a mixture of pride and trepidation. Last year we were venturing very much into uncharted waters by deciding to publish and distribute the book ourselves. With the help of friends we subsequently managed to raise enough sponsorship/advertising to part finance the project and this allowed us to take the step into the unknown. That the Handbook became a reality is a tribute to everyone who encouraged us, to our advertisers and especially to our families whose support was and is again, second time around, unswerving. In particular, our two faithful companions, Mary and Theresa, deserve our sincerest thanks though any words here are woefully inadequate appreciations of the patience and understanding our wives are blessed with and the many sacrifices they have made. Quite simply, it would not have been possible without the support of these two special ladies. Still, come to think of it, we have been wondering about the mutilated footballs in the garden....

The response to the 91/92 Handbook was staggering. It's warm reception was a great relief and our gratitude is due to the many journalists and programme editors who took the trouble to review it and for their generous praise. To hear Jimmy Magee speak so highly of it on national radio was immensely rewarding. It was also very heartening that the vibe was so good within the game: that genuine football people were impressed was really satisfying. Most surprising of all, though, was the number of individuals who wrote to us saying how much they enjoyed it, to make suggestions or to point out the odd blooper! We were amazed to receive letters from Scandinavia, Germany, Belgium, Holland, Luxembourg, Italy, even New Zealand as well as a flood of post from Britain as the Handbook was not advertised anywhere. It was not possible to reply to every letter but we got around to as many as we could.

All of the positive feedback encouraged us to run out again with another Handbook. Although a second edition, we consider it a new book in it's own right - a simple updating exercise it was not! In last years introduction we mentioned our lofty ambition to produce "a genuinely worthwhile reference/text book which suitably serves domestic football." This remains our goal. While we have improved the basic framework - better layout, better paper quality - we feel the amount of fresh material between the covers will be the most attractive aspect of this edition. The amount of text has been increased to give an overall better balance and a "flashback" series has been introduced which, if popular, will be retained and possibly extended. An article on the original Munster Football Association has been reproduced but the remaining text is all unique to this edition. New statistical features have also come on board such as the "100 Club" and the current top LOI goalscorers while others like the League Cup Finals and Munster Cup Finals are presented in greater detail. As far as we are aware the information on the Republic of Ireland "B", U-23 and U-21 results and appearances has not been comprehensively published elsewhere. We are indebted to Sean Ryan who filled several gaps in the U-21 section by very generously placing his files at our disposal. To us, Sean is the maestro and his three co-produced masterpieces, "The Bass Book of Irish Football", the "Gillette Book of the FAI Cup" and the "Book of Irish Goalscorers", are essential items for anyone interested in the Irish game.

Sean Connolly, with his prompt and thorough assistance, has also earned our gratitude. Sean proves that the oft-maligned FAI now operates like a well-oiled machine.

Of our helpers abroad we would like to especially thank Kåre Torgrimsen (Stavanger) and the Librarians of Liverpool, Odense and Toulon for coming up trumps when all our sources dried up at this end.

A couple of "snappers" also donated their own material and our thanks are due to Gerard McHugh in Donegal and John Botos (Frank Martin gave them to us!). If there are any other photographers who would like to help out for the third edition, please contact us.

A special mention is due also for the Cork City Supporters Club who have, with their renewed sponsorship, again helped make available a book which should benefit every supporter of Irish Football; our pool of ever-willing typists who sacrificed tea-breaks, lunch-breaks and their sanity deserve our gratitude as do the staff of Cork City Library for their ability to poke out even the most obscure pieces of information. It would be remiss of us not to praise and thank Bill O'Callaghans expert team at Litho Press for their skill in bringing the younger Handbook to a higher level than the first, especially Majella for her dexterity (and endless patience!) and Bill Murphy, the man who can solve any problem, even in Japanese. Equally to the rest of the crew in Roxboro, many thanks.

Our sponsors and advertisers have, like the best wine, been kept till last. Many of our first edition friends have backed us again and we are also delighted to be associated with several new sponsors. We particularly appreciate the support of everybody at this level especially as it is such a financially tight year with another wave of cutbacks hitting the nation. We would ask you to avail of the services provided by our advertisers who are all leaders in their own fields.

Finally, we hope you enjoy the Handbook and your football throughout 92-93!

EXPLANATORY NOTES

(a) Due to the constantly changing nature of the Club Directory Section, particularly in respect of club personnel, it should be noted that all information is correct at time of going to press. All club records are correct to end of 1991-92.

(b) The Club Directory contains full line-ups for all clubs for season 1991-92. This information was compiled from as many sources as possible including newspapers, magazines, match programmes, club consultation, foreign libraries and so on. Every effort has been made to obtain this information from the clubs themselves. Unfortunately, as some clubs again failed to reply and in the absence of reliable club programme information, in certain cases accuracy is solely dependant on newspaper reports.

It should also be noted that the positions given in the line-up sequences are those calculated on Monday morning after a full series of weekend matches and not those which may appear in the press after Friday or Saturday evening games.

(c) In the Competitions Section a name appearing in brackets indicates a substitute appearance and immediately follows the player replaced.

(d) Where included, figures in brackets in results sequences refer to half-time scores.

(e) All Derry City information in the Club Directory refers to the clubs League of Ireland membership only.

SYMBOLS

Club Directory: Under the heading "Points In a Season" a single asterisk (*) appears before any entry for season 1981/82 as the points system was changed to 4 for an away win, 3 for a home win, 2 for an away draw and 1 for a home draw. A double asterisk () before any entry for season 1982/83 signifies another experimental points system, now commonplace in England, of 3 for a win and 1 for a draw. In every other season the League of Ireland has operated the traditional 2 points per win and 1 point for a draw.

Under the heading "League Appearances 1991/92" any number following the plus symbol (+) indicates substitute appearances. For example, 6 + 3 means 6 appearances plus 3 further appearances as substitute.

In the Line-Ups sequences any numeral (1, 2, 3 etc.) after a players name represents goals scored by the player in that particular game. The symbol • after a player denotes the player was substituted by number 12. Similarly, the symbol # indicates replacement by number 13.

An own goal (OG) in the extreme right hand column signifies the team has benefitted from an opponents error.

It should be particularly noted that the numbers 1-13 do not necessarily represent those worn by players in any given match.

In the Republic of Ireland "B", U-23 and U-21 appearances section an asterisk (*) indicates a goal scored in a particular game. The number of asterisks corresponds to the number of goals scored.

In the Player Directory every effort has been made to present uniform information on the 500 plus players who made at least one L.O.I. appearance last season 1991-92. Once again lack of co-operation from certain clubs has resulted in a certain imbalance which will be obvious. All players nonetheless have been included and despite a huge improvement in this years presentation a better response from those particular clubs should lead to an even more comprehensive section in the next edition.

Explanation of the format used in the Player Directory is best illustrated by the following example:

MURPHY, John b. Cork 29 Feb 1967

Jan 90 Tramore Ath to Cobh Ramblers

COBH RAMBLERS v Shamrock Rovers (4-0) 2G, 20 Jan 1990

1990/91 Cobh Ramblers 17 + 3 (6)

1991/92 Cobh Ramblers 1 + 1 (1)

Mar 91 Waterford United (L) 4 + 1 (1)

- Line 1 Gives the players basic biographical details;
Line 2 Gives signing date and source club prior to L.O.I. debut or, where such details are unconfirmed, last known transfer between L.O.I. clubs.
Line 3 L.O.I. debut details
Remaining information refers to playing record from season 1990-91 i.e. number of appearances plus substitute appearances with goals scored in brackets
(L) indicates a loan transfer.
It should be particularly noted that the appearances/goals statistics included in the section cover the past two seasons only while many players' careers obviously pre-date this starting point.

The remaining format of the Irish Football Handbook should be easy enough to follow for any soccer fan though perhaps an explanation of the Shield may be necessary. This once famous competition has been presented in the "Defunct Section" while a trophy titled the League of Ireland Shield still exists. As this competition is now solely confined to First Division clubs it has been treated as a separate competition, namely, the First Division Shield.

Editorial

With a thirty year wait since their last Championship success, 1991-92 was the season that one of Ireland's oldest and most famous clubs, Shelbourne, finally came in from the cold. For the club's long suffering supporters, who last experienced significant success with the FAI Cup victory over Cork Hibernians in 1963, there was at last something to shout about as the 'Reds' eased away from nearest challengers Derry City and Cork City to claim the Premier Division title in some style.

For Derry and their manager Roy Coyle, runners-up spot and UEFA Cup qualification confirmed a more than satisfactory season, but for Cork, having lost out in the very last match of the 1990-91 season, third place merely accentuated their sense of disappointment. As for the defending champions Dundalk, the 'Lilywhites' challenged strongly to mid-January before falling away to a somewhat distant fourth place at the season's end.

Once again, there were in effect two separate leagues operating within the Premier Division and the lower one, involving Athlone, Bray, Drogheda, Galway and Sligo, went right to the final day of competition, before the relegation issue was settled. In the end it was Athlone Town and Galway United, both of whom had flirted with danger more than once in recent seasons, who lost the battle and who will run out in the First Division this season, in Galway's case for the first time ever.

This almost natural two tier division which has developed in recent years will be brought more sharply into focus this season with the changes in format to the top flight agreed at the League's AGM in June. This will see the top and bottom six sides break into completely separate leagues at the completion of two rounds of matches (22 games) with each club playing the other five on a home and away basis. Its a move which not surprisingly has generated a great deal of comment, much of it unfavourable, and it will be interesting to gauge the effect that this new system will have on morale, attendances and financial wellbeing particularly of those clubs finding themselves in the bottom six for the last third of the season! One further change sees third from bottom in the Premier play off against third from top in the First Division, in effect allowing for the possibility of three up three down which should also make the lower flight more competitive.

The buoyant feeling around the league during 1990-91 continued throughout last season, though St. Patrick's Athletic provided much cause for concern. The continuing financial difficulties of the club, incorporating their enforced absence from Richmond Park, remain worrying. Elsewhere, others who have suffered recent turmoil like Drogheda United, Limerick City and Waterford United, have thankfully regained their confidence, indeed to the extent that the latter two gained promotion to the Premier Division after an exciting battle with UCD and Munster neighbours Cobh Ramblers.

Other clubs continue, albeit slowly, to improve ground and spectator facilities, with Tolka Park still the example to all. Athlone Town, Limerick, Longford Town, Monaghan United and UCD, also deserve a mention for their efforts. A very ambitious project by Cork City, to build a modern stadium in the western suburb of Bishopstown has, unfortunately, at the time of writing, run into serious problems regarding planning details and safety requirements which have put on hold, for the moment at least, the hoped for move to a new home for the 'Leesiders'. However it is hoped that these problems will be quickly surmounted, allowing the LOI to benefit from this excellent facility. Another factor likely to have a big influence on improvements in facilities is the £1.5m compensation that the League will receive over the next five seasons for 'Live' televised football from across the water. As has been stated before, the League of Ireland is a fine league in its own right and what is most urgently needed is that Merrion Square puts forward an enlightened plan of action for the future, including as a priority the aforementioned installation of floodlighting at all venues to allow clubs the option of an alternative to the many counter attractions, including televised football, which threaten the domestic game. Already Dundalk whose Oriel Park ground does have floodlighting have announced their intention to switch to Friday night football for all home fixtures. We are likely to see this trend increase.

Following strong criticism levelled at the FAI for the changes introduced to the 1990-91 FAI Cup, thankfully the Blue Riband reverted to its more traditional format. Bohemians deservedly captured their fifth trophy at the expense of Cork City in the May decider and overall it was an excellent competition. There was also good news with the announcement that Harp Lager would renew their sponsorship of both this event and also the Intermediate Cup. With Bord Gais continuing to generously support LOI competitions, the benefits gained from both sponsorships are enormous for the local scene.

Frustrating though it remains, the continuing regionalisation of League Cup Groups is boringly repetitive and the lack of incentive for the winners, without the 'carrot' of European qualification, further devalues this competition. An unfortunate precedent was set this season with the manipulation of the formerly 'open' Quarter Final draw to give those clubs with floodlights automatic home advantage. As if to illustrate the injustice, all four 'home' sides advanced to the Semi Finals. It is to be hoped that this ill advised move will not be repeated in the future. The First Division Shield retained its poor relation image, proving again little more than a 'filler' competition and playing second fiddle to Premier League football throughout September. With apologies to UCD, worthy winners of the trophy, a change in format to the League, which would see a comparable number of games in both divisions, would surely be more preferable to this rather pointless exercise.

On the European front, it was more of the same for LOI clubs, as a lack of investment in professional preparation meant brave performances, particularly by Dundalk and Cork City, went largely unrewarded. It seems somehow that administrators at both club and national level will never come to realise the benefits which would accrue from success in Europe and the moderate investment needed to achieve it.

On the International scene it was a disappointing season with the failure to qualify for the European Championship finals in Sweden, losing a 6 year unbeaten run in Dublin to Wales, and a disastrous start to the US Cup'92 tournament in America. Notwithstanding this, there were victories against Hungary, Turkey, Switzerland, USA and Portugal to enjoy, whilst the 1994 World Cup qualifiers began with a workmanlike if unspectacular display against Albania. Certainly, Jack Charlton's experience and guile will be severely tested in the cauldrons of Copenhagen and Seville in the first few months of this season. Off the pitch, the so called 'Granny Rule' or qualification on the strength of one's grandparents' birthplace continues to be both controversial and embarrassing for most Irish supporters. Surely it is time for the FAI to follow the lead of others, not too far from home, in invoking a strict parental qualification rule only.

Note:

Due to the high number of name changes by League of Ireland clubs it should be noted that in several cases clubs of the same name are separate entities, for example Cork City (1938) and Cork City (1984); Cork United (1940) and Cork United (1980's) and the current Limerick F.C. and Limerick (1937).

* Many different grounds have been used for League of Ireland games over the years, some only once in a season for e.g. Musgrave Pk., for Cork City v Shamrock Rovers 14 Sep 1991. This section lists only those grounds used by a club for a substantial part of any one season.

THE START OF SOMETHING BIG.

At AIB, we're changing – now our customers and their needs determine the way we do things. It's a change that is fundamental to our relationship with each and every one of our customers. And it's only just begun.

Just as every team is determined to do their best, we're making a great effort to be the best in our field.

Now everyone of you can expect more of us. Many banks promise you a better service, but only one is really changing.

THE INTERNATIONAL REVIEW

Ireland Miss Out on Sweden '92

Chapter
Sponsor

After the disappointment of losing a home point to Poland at the tail end of last season, a further point dropped to the same opposition in October effectively ended Ireland's attempt to reach the final stages of a third successive major championship. Overall it was poor season on the international front, certainly the most disappointing one since Jack Charlton's appointment in March 1986. Along with the failure to qualify for the European Championships, a series of uninspiring friendlies, one of which produced our first home defeat in six years, was followed by an indifferent opening to the World Cup campaign and a near disastrous U.S. Cup series in America. Certainly Ireland's game plan came unstuck far too often this season and the increasingly predictable nature of our play, particularly at home, was a source of great frustration.

Back in September, however, things had started on a much brighter note when, as part of the build up to the Euro games in Poznan and Istanbul, Ireland travelled to the city of Gyor to take on Hungary. A surprisingly small attendance of only 4,000 saw Ireland dominate proceedings and although the 'Magyar's' scored first through Kovacs after 50 minutes, an excellent strike within a minute from Dave Kelly, making a rare appearance in the starting line up, brought the sides level. Then in the 70th minute Kevin Sheedy scored his first goal for the 'Republic' since that famous night in Cagliari in June 1990 and this proved sufficient for victory. Subsequently a rather strange declaration by Charlton that it had in fact been John Aldridge who scored the winner, proved groundless. This friendly game marked the debut in a full international for Wimbledon's Terry Phelan.

So to the crunch game in Poznan on October 16th and to a night of high drama as an Irish side playing some of the best football it ever has done on foreign soil built up a seemingly unassailable 3-1 lead, before two totally uncharacteristic lapses in defence gave a lifeline to the home side whose own chance of going to Sweden seemed lost. The 3-3 scoreline effectively scuppered Ireland's challenge in the group, particularly as a fortuitous English win against a then pointless and goalless Turkish side at Wembley that same evening left Taylor's team firmly in the driving seat. There was still of course a last series of matches, still a chance, but Ireland had thrown away a golden opportunity to put themselves in pole position. We were now dependent on others doing us a favour. It was a disappointing outcome to an enthralling match.

Ireland had made the breakthrough in Poznan after only 10 minutes, Paul McGrath rising majestically to power a superb header past a bemused Wandzik in the Polish goal. It was the perfect start as the Poles, forced to chase the game, allowed the Irish space to hit back incisively on the counter attack. Against the run of play the home side equalised 9 minutes into the second half through Czachowski, but this only spurred Ireland on to greater efforts and a clinical volley by Andy Townsend after 62 minutes restored the lead. Six minutes later a classic piece of opportunism by Tony Cascarino following a poorly cleared corner kick looked to have ended the game as a contest. However, to their credit Poland kept plugging away, showing as they had done in Dublin earlier in the year that this was indeed a useful side. Although it took two blunders, firstly by the normally rock solid Dave O'Leary and then by Packie Bonner, the latter with just three minutes remaining, the home side took their opportunities well and thus left themselves in with a chance. Unfortunately the error from big Packie seemed to precipitate a totally unexpected crisis of confidence in the Celtic mans game, one which grew steadily worse as the season progressed.

By the time that the away game to Turkey rolled around four weeks later, the equation was simple and clear in everybody's mind. Ireland had to win in Istanbul whilst we needed Poland to defeat England in Poznan. With a superior goal difference this would suffice, but should both home sides manage to win then Poland would slip through to the final stages. As things turned out, an excellent display by Ireland which yielded a 3-1 victory was very nearly good enough, but not quite. With only 15 minutes remaining in both games, which had kicked off simultaneously, Poland led 1-0, Ireland 3-1. Irish fans glued to their T.V. sets, and fully aware of what was happening in Poznan, were beginning to anticipate qualification for a second Euro finals when the prolific Gary Lineker, not for the first time, rescued the English cause. It was a typical opportunist strike from Lineker to rescue a team which looked beaten. So then Ireland finally had to admit second best in a group in which they had often looked likely qualifiers.

Unfortunately, events in Poznan somewhat overshadowed what was a heartwarming Irish performance against the Turks. Once again Ireland scored early, after only 8 minutes through John Byrne. Within four minutes, however, Turkey were level and again big Packie was largely at fault when his mistimed dive brought down the intrushing Turkish forward. Riza made no mistake from the penalty kick and so the match reached the interval all square.

After the break, Ireland stepped up a few gears and dominated proceedings thereafter. Tony Cascarino, always the man for the big occasion it seems, edged the Irish in front after 54 minutes, and John Byrne 'capped' a superb individual performance with his second and Ireland's third goal a few minutes later. This ended the scoring, but in truth it could have been much worse for a ragged Turkish outfit who finished the group pointless, and with one goal (from the penalty spot!) in six outings.

On a less cheerful note for the Irish and unbeknown to the watching T.V. audience in Ireland, fans who travelled to Istanbul were treated shamefully at the hands of Turkish supporters and in some instances the local Police. Many never made it into the stadium despite having tickets and were subjected to disgraceful physical and verbal abuse. A subsequent 'enquiry' proved totally unsatisfactory and the matter was quickly and quietly brushed under the carpet.

Following the customary mid-season break on the International scene, during which the draw for the qualifying groups for U.S. '94 were made in December, Ireland faced into three friendlies in the New Year in preparation for the opening World Cup game versus Albania in May. The first of these was held in a new and as yet untried venue, the R.D.S. Grounds in Ballsbridge, where Wales were the visitors on February 19th. Unfortunately, this game did not go well either on or off the pitch. The new ground proved less than popular with many patrons who roundly criticised the F.A.I. for the lack of creature comfort, and in some instances the difficulty in seeing the match itself at this venue. As for the game itself, it must surely rank as one of the poorest Internationals ever witnessed in Dublin. In the later stages of a long and hard season both teams looked jaded, the pitch was even worse than Landsdowne Road, and weather wise the day was none too kind. All in all a very disappointing occasion. Apart from the fact that Liam Daish made his senior debut, the first player from Cambridge United to do so, the only other item of real interest was the Welsh goal. This came on 70 minutes as a booming clearance by goalkeeper Southall was badly misjudged by Dave O'Leary, who allowed the ball to bounce over him and in to the path of the intrushing Mark Pembridge who coolly slipped it past Packie in the Irish goal. Understandably Wales were delighted to have ended the Republic's six year unbeaten run in Dublin, but neither Charlton nor Terry Yorath could have learnt much from this encounter.

Five weeks later Switzerland travelled to Landsdowne Road for the second of Ireland's home friendlies and drew a very healthy crowd of 23,601 to more familiar surroundings. This game certainly proved a big improvement on the Welsh one as the Swiss played some good football and were rather unlucky to lose to a goal two minutes from time. Indeed the visitors took the lead after 25 minutes of the first half when a powerful free kick by Sutter took a very slight deflection off the head of Ronnie Whelan and flashed past Bonner. It took Ireland all of two minutes to equalise, a clever piece of opportunism by debutant Tommy Coyle who with this goal joined a select group who have scored on their International debut.

In a brisk second half both sides had chances to win, but the Swiss seemed to settle for draw too early and Ireland's persistence paid off when John Aldridge, an 81st minute substitute for Coyne slotted home the match winning penalty kick with only two minutes left. Along with Coyne, Eddie McGoldrick also made his senior debut in this match, and Paul McGrath became the 12th player to appear 50 times or more for the Republic.

The third and last of the 'home' friendlies on April 29th at Landsdowne Road, saw only the third ever meeting between the Republic of Ireland and the United States of America in a senior soccer International. Prior to this the Irish had won 3-2 Dublin in 1979, and drawn 1-1 in Foxboro, Massachusetts, in June 1991 and on this occasion a 4-1 scoreline flattered the home team who only came to life in the second half. Earlier, despite some extremely naive defending by the visitors, Irish front runners Coyne and Quinn had made little impression and it was the ball skills and precise passing of the U.S. midfield which caught the eye.

Within a minute of the restart, however, a superb Andy Townsend volley, reminiscent of his goal in Poznan, provided the breakthrough. Still reeling from the shock, the Americans went two down within seven minutes as Denis Irwin scored his first senior goal for the Republic with a well placed free kick from 20 yards. Subsequently, goals from Quinn (69 mins) and Cascarino (88 mins.) put Ireland four up before Eric Wynalda repeated his feat of Foxboro some ten months earlier and scored a consolation goal for the U.S.A. Two further players made their senior debuts in this game, Mick Milligan (Everton) and Brian Carey (Manchester United), both coming on as second half substitutes.

The circumstances surrounding Albania's visit in May for Ireland's opening World Cup Group Three qualifier were quite extraordinary. Arriving without playing strip, training equipment, medical kit and demanding a $50,000 appearance fee, these 'paupers' of world football certainly had the F.A.I. running silly during their short visit. It looked at times indeed that they were virtually holding the Irish authorities to ransom. Interestingly enough the Danish F.A., having watched events in Dublin, warned the Albanians publicly that they had no intention whatsoever of being as accommodating as the F.A.I. when the two countries clash in Copenhagen in June.

However, poor in a material sense these Albanians were, they certainly were not stupid, and by kick off had won the pre-match psychological war hands down. 'Informed sources', including some rather well known journalists, were confidently predicting a runaway Irish win. In the event the game hadn't progressed too far when it became plainly obvious that players like goalkeeper Dani, Rudi Vata, now of Celtic, and Steaua Bucharest's Demollari would fit comfortably into most International sides, and Ireland would need to dig deep to come out on top in this one. To their credit the home team stuck to their task, and following a frustrating opening half, made the breakthrough 15 minutes into the second period. A super goal it was too, as John Aldridge dipped low to nod in Roy Keane's exquisite chip. The second goal after 79 minutes from Paul McGrath gave Ireland breathing space and ensured the two points, but it was less than inspiring stuff from the 'Boys in Green.'

Later that week Ireland flew out to the United States to take part in the U.S. Cup tournament which would include games against Italy, Portugal and the host nation, all designed to stimulate greater interest in Soccer with the World Cup finals due to take place there in 1994. Not surprisingly there were any number of receptions, parties etc. awaiting the Irish on their arrival, including a highly publicised one hosted by the G.A.A. in Washington, no sporting bigotry here it seems! Unfortunately, as Charlton was later to concede, some of the squad, winding down after an overlong season both domestically and internationally, emersed themselves rather too much in the celebrations. Perhaps the fact that the opening game was to be against the host nation, whom Ireland had beaten 4-1 only weeks earlier in Dublin, induced a general feeling of overconfidence, who knows, but a rude awakening awaited the Irish in the R.F.K Stadium, Washington, on the night of May 31st.

In conditions of extreme humidity the Irish looked lethargic from the start, the 'pressure' game having to be abandoned in favour of a more laid back style. Despite this, the first half was fairly evenly contested and when Mick McCarthy headed powerfully home from a 51st minute corner kick, for what was only his second ever International goal, there was no hint of the disaster which was about to befall Ireland. Within three minutes of conceding the opening score, the U.S.A. were level through one of their most experienced campaigners, Marcelo Balboa, and then in the 70th minute Tab Ramos put the 'homesters' ahead with a superbly struck shot from all of 25 yards. With Ireland becoming increasingly more ragged, a delightful back heel from Roy Wegerle let in Sheffield Wednesday's John Harkes for the third goal, just 2 minutes from time. So then, all credit to the U.S.A. who were understandably elated with this result. Ireland were left licking their wounds, and facing into a second game just four days later against the might of Italy.

Although in theory this game afforded Ireland the opportunity to avenge that World Cup quarter final defeat in Rome two years previously, the fact is that in six meetings at International level spread over 70 odd years, the Irish had failed to secure even a draw against Italy and seldom looked like avoiding a seventh straight defeat in Foxboro on June 4th. As for Pat Bonner, his return to the fray having missed the game in Washington through injury, was destined to end in tears, following his dismissal by local referee D'Aquila for a professional foul. It was the final indignity in a heartbreaking season for the big Donegalman.

As with the opening game, Ireland struggled to cope with the high humidity and end of season exhaustion. Italy for their part looked comfortable and their superior technical skills were much more suited to the conditions. They took the lead after only 17 minutes, a free kick outside the Irish penalty area being pushed wide of a badly positioned defensive wall and into the path of Signori who, with a clear view of the target, belted the ball past a helpless Bonner. It was a sloppy goal to concede from an Irish point of view.

Not surprisingly, although dominant up to this, the Italians became increasingly cautious having scored and allowed Ireland more into the game. However much of the Irish play was scrappy and aimless and after 20 minutes of the second half disaster struck. Bonner, in attempting to smother the intruding Signori caught the Italian on the ankle . . . a penalty! Referee D'Aquila produced the red card and waved it at the hapless goalkeeper. The Irish players, who felt that Signori had played for a penalty, were furious. Packie's replacement Gerry Peyton's first action was to pick the ball out of the net following Costacurta's spot kick. Two down and with only ten men, it didn't look good for Ireland, but to their credit they regained their composure and the game finished without further goals or controversy.

By now, after two straight defeats, the U.S. Cup had gone rather sour on Ireland and there was only the match against Portugal to regain some lost pride and end the season on a more cheerful note. Considering that this was in effect a 'woodenspoon' encounter, with Portugal having lost to the U.S.A. and drawn with Italy, the game drew a staggering 41,227 people to Foxboro Stadium, home of American Football's New England Patriots. With Charlton's team raising their game significantly, despite once again facing difficult conditions, it was the Irish amongst the big crowd who had most to celebrate.

After an evenly contested and eventful opening period, Ireland took the lead just five minutes from the interval with an unusual goal, certainly at international level. Steve Staunton, playing his best game in an Irish jersey for some time, hit an inswinging corner kick from the right which completely deceived goalkeeper Vitor Baia who, despite being unchallenged, allowed the ball to drift over his head and inside the far post. Although it may have been a fortuitous goal, nevertheless it did wonders for the Irish morale, and coming as it did so close to half time was a bodyblow to the Portuguese.

In the second half Ireland continued to perform well, but were forced more and more onto the counter attack as Portugal fought desperately for an equaliser. Two world class saves by Gerry Peyton from Pinto and Cadete kept Ireland in front, before in injury time Ray Houghton set up substitute Tommy Coyne for his second international goal. The final whistle signalled a welcome victory, one which at least ensured that a disappointing season would end on a high note. We look forward with renewed hope, that the World Cup qualifiers coming up in the last few months of 1992 will see the Republic set the groundwork for qualification and a summer date in the U.S.A. in two years time.

The U21/Olympic Scene

Following an uninspiring campaign the previous season, Ireland's challenge in the U/21 Olympic qualifiers ended with further defeats in both Poland and Turkey to leave the side propping up the table having secured just two from a possible 12 points. The campaign resumed on October 15th in Bydgoszcz where the senior side had lost 0-3 in 1981 and where their U21/Olympic counterparts never looked likely to spring a surprise. With Ireland fielding four new caps at this level in McKenna, Dunne, Rush and Toal, they did well to hold the Poles scoreless for most the game. However, two goals in the last 12 minutes both scored by substitute Juskowiak, put the home side firmly in control in the group. Indeed subsequently, the Poles would make it all the way to the Olympic Final in Barcelona, losing by the odd goal in five to the host nation Spain. As for Ireland, there was only the game in Istanbul left to perhaps end this disappointing series on a high note.

In the event, the game at the Ali Sami Yen Stadium was to end once again in defeat for Ireland although their performance on the night deserved better. One extraordinary statistic from this match was the 20,000 attendance, the result of the Turkish F.A.'s decision to allow free admission. There can't have been too many U21/Olympic qualifiers to boast this size crowd! Ireland trailed at half time to a Cafer goal in the 41st minute, before Barry O'Connor of Shamrock Rovers, the only Irish player making his U21/Olympic debut, brought the sides level after 55 minutes. With the game neatly poised, and both sides looking likely winners, it was the Turk's who made the breakthrough in the 79th minute through centre forward Hakan. With yet another defeat then, the fifth in succession, it had not proved a good series from an Irish viewpoint. Certainly the hoped for progression of players from this level up to the senior squad did not materialise, with the exception of Roy Keane perhaps and this was a further disappointment. In all 27 players were used in the six games played, and 7 of those came from the ranks of the League of Ireland.

With the fixtures for the 1992-94 European U21 Championship drawn to run parallel to those in the senior groups, this meant Ireland's opening encounter would be with Albania on the eve of the senior game in May. As part of the build up to this it was decided that Ireland would play the Swiss U21 side to coincide with the senior international between the two countries in March. The game took place in Tolka Park on the 24th and drew a smallish crowd of 1,500. Those who did venture out enjoyed a lively game as Ireland took the lead just a minute from half time with an own goal by Swiss defender Studer. The visitors drew level after 69 minutes with a goal to grace any game, as substitute Hohener scored with a lovely strike from an acute angle. This ended the scoring and Ireland not surprisingly showed a big change in personnel from the squad used in the 1990-92 series.

So to Ireland's opening game of the new Euro Championship campaign and that aforementioned clash with Albania on 25th May at Tolka Park. With a brand new strip completed only hours earlier by Adidas, this was the first time Albania had ever taken on the Republic at any level. The visitors included two players, left back Quendro and winger Sokoli who would also feature in the senior game the following day at Landsdowne Road, and they stunned Ireland by taking the lead after only 13 minutes with a superb volley from Baholli. It took the Irish until the 35th minute to equalise, somewhat against the run of play too, as Colchester's Mark Kinsella scored with another fine volley. This left the sides level at the break, and Ireland improved significantly in the second period, taking the lead in the 62nd minute as Len Curtis (Leeds United) forced the ball over the goalline after David Collins' header had been parried by goalkeeper Kosim. Five minutes later a mistake by Kosim let in Lee Power of Norwich City for Ireland's third goal, and so the new Euro U21 Championship began as the last one had done with a home victory for the Republic. Hopefully, early success can this time be built upon to give us a much better series.

'B' International

After a gap of nearly two years since that memorable 4-1 thrashing of England in Turners Cross, Ireland resumed its participation at 'B' level with a friendly match against Denmark in Tolka Park on February 12th. The Irish were a curious mixture of established, though not regular senior players, U21 stalwarts, and others including Pat Fenlon (Bohemians) and Martin Russell (Portadown). There were just five survivors from the game in Cork, Coyle, McLoughlin, Scully, Dave Kelly and Mark Kelly.

A crowd of 3,827 saw Ireland dominate throughout and they should have won by a greater margin than the 2-0 scoreline on the night. Subsequently the gloss was taken off the victory somewhat with the revelation that this was not in fact a 'B' selection as we might understand it, but the Danish U20 team!

Ireland took the lead just a minute from half time with a well taken goal from Pat Fenlon, and within five minutes of the restart Dave Kelly, whose goalscoring record in an Irish jersey at every level is so impressive, notched number two. Despite many more opportunities, there was no further scoring and thus Irelands unbeaten record at 'B' International level remains intact.

Inter League Game

The Inter League series also made a welcome reappearance with the visit of the Irish League to Tolka Park on November 19th. The previous four clashes had all resulted in victory for the Southern selection, but on this occasion it was their Northern counterparts who were in complete control. Thus with their victory in Dublin the series is now tied at 23 wins each and twelve draws in 58 meetings.

A disappointing attendance of only 1,800 saw Glen Ferguson (Glenavon) give the visitors the lead after just eight minutes of the first half, and the League of Ireland never really recovered from this early reversal. Ironically, an excellent midfield display by the Irish League was orchestrated by Dublin born Martin Russell later to receive the 'Player of the Year' award North of the border.

The killer goal came just three minutes into the second period and was scored by Niall Candlish of Ballymena United. So then, although it was both a poor performance and a disappointing result for the League of Ireland, nevertheless, it was good to see the series return. Hopefully, it will again make an appearance in the coming season.

Republic of Ireland Players (Club by Club)

The following is a list of clubs which have supplied players to Free State/Republic of Ireland teams in all Senior International matches up to and including the US Cup 92 clash with Portugal on 7th June 1992. The number in brackets after each club's name is the total of players supplied by that club. In the case of League of Ireland clubs details, of the last player to be capped are included. It should be noted that in the case of players being 'on loan' when capped it is the club to which the player is contracted and not to which he is 'loaned' that is included.

THE EUROPEAN REVIEW

A Mixed Bag for League of Ireland Clubs

The draw for preliminary and first round ties in the 1991-92 European club competitions certainly produced interesting and varied opponents for our three L.O.I. representatives Dundalk, Galway United and Cork City. For the second season running our Cup Winners Cup entrants faced into a mid-August preliminary tie as Galway United met Danish Cup holders Odense. Champions Dundalk drew tough opponents in Kispest Honved of Budapest, whilst in the U.E.F.A. Cup Cork City were more than happy to be drawn to meet three times European Cup winners, Bayern Munich.

As things turned out, both Dundalk and Cork City, although failing to advance, could feel justifiably proud of excellent performances against quality opposition. Galway's European experience, however, was unfortunately a most unhappy one.

Invariably, of course, a preliminary tie puts extra pressure on clubs participating in Europe, not least as there is little hope of any real competitive football prior to mid-August. For their part Dundalk and Cork City both had the benefit of three League and three League Cup games under their belts before entering the fray, whereas Galway had played only two League Cup matches prior to the first leg on August 21st. That said, however, most of the problems encountered in preparation for the Odense tie took place not on the pitch but off it.

The first obstacle was to find a suitable alternative venue to Terryland Park for the home leg, an embarrassing episode with the club trying to beg, steal or borrow a ground from various sporting codes in the City. Eventually, to everyone's relief, a laudable piece of sporting ecumenism displayed by the G.A.A. folk of Ballindereen, some 11 miles away, solved the problem. Their excellent facilities it seems were not actually vested in the G.A.A. itself, allowing the club to neatly sidestep possible objections from within their own Association.

Potentially even more damaging than the venue problem, however, was the row which erupted between manager Joey Malone and the Galway Board. Disappointed that both Johnny Glynn and Tommy Keane had been allowed to leave the club and unhappy with a lack of complete control over team selection, Malone resigned in July, citing the aforementioned reasons for his action. Later persuaded to withdraw his resignation, the truce was short lived as Malone and Galway once again parted company, this time permanently, in mid season.

By the time then that the first leg arrived it had been a long and difficult month for 'United' and, unfortunately, Odense were not in a mood to make life any easier for them. An excellent crowd of 6,000 plus witnessed a clinical display by the Danes who took a first half lead through Morten Donnerup after 38 minutes. Second half goals by Danish U21 International Stein Nedergaard and ex-Luton Town striker Lars Elstrup virtually ended the tie as a contest. Galway United were simply outclassed. It had taken all of 53 minutes before the Danish goalkeeper Lars Høgh was called into serious action. The second leg a fortnight later now held little promise for the dejected home fans, many of whom had drifted away long before the final whistle.

Only 1,750 people turned up at the Odense Stadium on September 3rd to witness the home team win 4-0 on the night and so complete an easy 7-0 aggregate victory. Nedergaard again broke the deadlock, this time after 35 minutes, and second half goals from Hansen, Harder, and Thorup, the last two in the closing 10 minutes crushed the men from the West, for whom this Euro campaign had proved less than memorable. For their part Odense moved on to a First Round tie against Banik Ostrava of Czechoslovakia.

Things not having gone well for Galway then, spirits were very definitely in need of a lift, and on September 18th, surely a day that will long be remembered in Irish Euro participation, Dundalk and Cork City did just that, both putting on a display which did L.O.I. football proud.

In the famous Nep Stadium in Budapest, champions Dundalk were not expected to make much progress against Hungarian giants, Kispest Honved. But Turlough O'Connor's side had not read the script properly! A game which started quietly suddenly burst into life after 27 minutes, when Dundalk's Ricky McEvoy cracked home a lovely opening goal. Stung by this completely unexpected reversal, the home side poured forward in search of the equaliser, in the process leaving gaps at the back which the Co. Louth side might have exploited more than once. In the end, however, it was Honved who scored a face saving equaliser through Negray with just 8 minutes remaining. Although Dundalk were a little disappointed to have conceded a goal so late in the game, nevertheless they were rightly proud of an excellent evenings work. Things looked promising for the home leg a fortnight later, especially with the advantage of an away goal.

Meanwhile at Musgrave Park, Cork City were emulating Dundalk's fine performance in their first leg clash with Bayern Munich. For this game too there had been problems settling on a suitable venue. But the decision to use the I.R.F.U.'s Munster headquarters proved a good one. Unfortunately, the controversial decision to raise admission prices to £20 for a less than luxurious stand seat and £8 to enter the ground was rather less inspired and was without doubt the primary reason for a very poor attendance of only 4,000.

As with the game in Budapest, this encounter also began quietly but it was once again the L.O.I. side who lit the fuse when local sporting hero Dave Barry crashed home the opening goal after 26 minutes. Cork's first European goal since 1974 sparked off joyous scenes around the ground, not least from Barry himself who looked perfectly capable of running up the N8 to Dublin arms still held aloft in celebration! The Germans looked bemused, incredulous and more than a little vulnerable. The pity was that City could only hold this magnificent advantage for just 17 minutes. But two minutes from the interval some sense of reality/normality returned when German International Stefen Effenberg equalised with a sweetly struck shot, low and hard into the corner of Phil Harrington's net.

The second half, though full of incident and excitement, brought no further scoring. Bayern were twice denied by the woodwork and Pat Morley should really have done better when put clean through with only minutes remaining, but in the end the honours were shared. The final whistle was greeted with delight by the home fans who rightly proclaimed the result as one of the finest ever achieved by an Irish club in Europe. Certainly both 1-1 draws achieved that day were a tremendous boost to L.O.I. Football. We eagerly awaited the second leg games a fortnight later.

In Oriol Park on October 2nd the vast majority of the 8,000 strong crowd had come from outside the Dundalk area, particularly from Dublin, giving the proceedings a curious atmosphere, strangely lacking in passion. The fact that Dundalk played really well that evening tended to be forgotten in the aftermath of a 0-2 defeat, which was understandable given the disappointment felt that what had looked an excellent opportunity to advance had slipped by. In truth the only real difference between the sides was Honved's ability to accept those opportunities which presented themselves. This they did twice in quick succession after 24 and 30 minutes through Hungarian International Pisont. Unfortunately, luck just seemed to desert the 'Lilywhites' on the night, as Mick Kavanagh struck the base of an upright and twice Honved cleared off of their own goal line. So then what had at one stage looked a distinct possibility, a first round aggregate win in the Champion's Cup was not to be, but Dundalk and their supporters could certainly feel proud of two brave and skilful performances.

Cork City fans were given a real treat for their second leg clash with Bayern Munich the previous evening as local Cablelink T.V. transmitted the entire match 'Live', a rare bonus when our clubs compete in Europe. In the event, despite fears of a German backlash as coach Jupp Heynckes stared dismissal in the face after the teams failure to win in Cork and a disastrous start to their league season, the live transmission was a joy to behold as 'City' played magnificently on the night.

However, as the game began it appeared as though Bayern would silence their critics as first Mick Conroy and then Phil Harrington denied the home side an early breakthrough. As the half wore on 'City's' confidence grew. With the defence playing superbly, they began to mount threatening attacks of their own, one of which should have yielded the opening goal to Dave Barry on the half hour, but he and John Caulfield got their signals crossed at the crucial moment. So half time arrived, with the scores still level and the 13,500 attendance warming to Cork's efforts. In the second half the visitors continued to play above themselves and to frustrate the Germans much vaunted forward line. After an hours play came the incident which will be recounted for many years to come on 'Leeside.' Following a quick free kick from Gerry McCabe to Dave Barry, his stinging shot rebounded out from the outstretched leg of goalkeeper Hilringhaus but astonishingly behind the intruding Paul Bannon who, it seemed, needed only the merest of contacts to score. It was a crucial moment and by now Bayern looked shell-shocked and the L.O.I. club were beginning to dictate the game. However, as so often happens when Irish clubs take on full time professional sides, the sucker punch arrived late, in this case with just 15 minutes remaining. A quick break from Wohlfarth caught the Cork City rearguard cold and Labbadia supplied the final touch to end the Irish club's dream.

A goal for Cork at this stage would, of course, have brought the tie into extra time, but it was in fact the Germans who scored a second time, in the 89th minute, from the penalty spot. Following a corner kick which didn't look to pose too great a threat, full back Liam Murphy inexplicably handled in his own box and Christian Ziege slotted home the spot kick. It was a cruel goal to concede and 2-0 hardly seemed a fair reflection. Cork City left the field to a standing ovation and soon after Heynckes lost his job.

So then a night of disappointment, yet full of pride, signalled an end to another Euro campaign. We still await that elusive victory to show some progress is being made. Perhaps season 1992-93 will provide us with it.

SHAMROCK ROVERS v BAYERN MUNICH

European Cup Winners' Cup 2nd Round
1966-67

EURO
FLASHBACK

A tie that will long be remembered, the meeting of Shamrock Rovers and Bayern Munich in November, 1966, produced a performance from the "Hoops" to rank with any by an Irish club in the European arena. And if in the end the outcome did not favour the Milltown outfit, nothing could detract from the skill, commitment and bravery they displayed over both legs against the powerful Germans.

Rovers' ticket to the competition had been secured when second-half goals from Tony O'Connell and Frank O'Neill ousted Limerick, for the second year in a row, in the FAI Cup Final. It was Rovers' third cup win on the trot and three more were to follow in a glittering six year sequence. Rovers were ideally suited to the special atmosphere and vagaries of knockout football and they had carried this flair onto the Euro stage in the past with a titanic performance against Manchester United, at Old Trafford, and a single goal defeats against Nice, Valencia and Real Zaragoza after stirring battles in both legs against all three.

Bayern, for their part, qualified by defeating MSV Duisburg 4-2 to capture only their second national Cup. The Munich club's European pedigree at this stage was less impressive than Rovers', having had just one previous outing the 1962-63 Inter Cities Fairs Cup. That campaign had seen the Bavarians account for the "Hoops" old Dublin rivals Drumcondra, also in the second round, before being comprehensively dismissed by Dinamo Zagreb.

The opening round of Rovers' seventh European adventure had begun with a comfortable 4-1 Dalymount victory over Spora, the goals coming from Johnny Fullam, Billy Dixon, Mick Kearin and a Frank O'Neill penalty. The dose was exactly repeated just one week later in Luxembourg, when a brace from Dixon, supplemented by singles from Kearin and O'Neill, saw the Dubliners through on what was then an Irish record 8-2 aggregate scoreline.

Bayern, meanwhile, had struggled somewhat to eliminate little-known debutants Tatran Presov from Czechoslovakia, edging ahead 3-2 at Munich while tying the away leg 1-1.

Dublin was abuzz for Bayerns arrival, the fans particularly keen to see Franz Beckenbauer, the young West German star at the World Cup Finals just four months earlier in England. Those Finals were the first to be televised in this country and made a huge impression on the local-soccer audience. 22,000 showed up to witness the first half of one of the most glorious chapters in The Shamrock Rovers Story. The game, however, began badly for the home side and after just 17 minutes Koulmann volleyed the Germans ahead. Despite this early setback Rovers refused to yield and matched Bayern in the skill and commitment departments throughout a see-saw encounter. The visitors held their lead to half-time but an up-tempo Rovers assault finally produced a merited equaliser after 60 minutes when Billy Dixon, who had scored for Drumcondra against Bayern four years earlier in a 1-0 home leg victory, slid in to knock the ball past Sepp Maier.

Still Rovers did not relent, digging deep within their reserves as they chased after a winner and controlling matters in the closing quarter. Try as they might, however, their huge effort was not rewarded with the victory it deserved. But, at 1-1, the tie was far from dead as the second leg would soon prove.

In Munich, Rovers were further boosted by the return of Bobby Gilbert, the clubs joint leading marksman from the previous season. On the debit side, the onset of winter in southern Germany produced a treacherous icy surface at the Stadion an der Grünwalder Strasse and dictated a less cavalier approach from the Irish side. It was this caution which led to a disastrous start by the Milltown men. Brenninger, after 5 minutes, and Olhauser, after 12, found Mick Smyth's net in a whirlwind Bayern opening which took the Germans to a seemingly unassailable 3-1 interval lead. Both men had also scored in the 6-0 routing of Drumcondra and Rovers must have felt a similar fate awaited them.

But Liam Tuohy concocted a magic of some sort during the break and Rovers re-emerged transformed. Ignoring the icy conditions and through a combination of sheer guts, grit and skill they succeeded in turning the game on its head. Gilbert celebrated his return with a goal on 53 minutes and when Tuohy plundered the equaliser five minutes later the game was sensationally up for grabs. Beckenbauer, Roth, Schwarzenbeck and company were being run ragged on their own patch as Rovers, technically ahead on away goals, went for the kill. Perhaps the scent of a truly remarkable victory proved too alluring or perhaps they were exhausted from the herculean effort. In hindsight, perhaps they should simply have closed ranks completely for, with just 7 minutes remaining and the quarter final looming on the horizon, a young Gerd Muller rose from the slush to head past the despairing Smyth. The Germans could hardly believe the reprieve but Rovers were shattered. Time and effort spent ruled out a third recovery in the tie.

Bayern went on to defeat Rapid Vienna and Standard Liege before slipping Glasgow Rangers in the Final at Nuremberg to claim their first continental trophy.

Though glory had been cruelly snatched from their grasp, Rovers showed that Irish sides can compete honourably in European competitions even with top ranked clubs.

RTE's Philip Greene, commentating, recalled the second leg as "one of the most magnificent performances I have ever seen from any team anywhere." It was a fitting tribute to the Euro Rovers of '66, a team which did the country proud.

The Championship Review Shelbourne End 30 Year Wait

In a year which could not reproduce the nail-biting climax of its predecessor, the 1991/92 Championship was nevertheless won in admirable fashion by Shelbourne, an old club long in the doldrums but finally restored to glory. This overdue triumph was not an overnight success but rather the result of serious planning, investment and, not least, patience over the past four or five seasons.

The Reds, however, were not early pacesetters in the long campaign, Derry City, in fact, with ex-Linfield supremo Roy Coyle at the helm, were quickly into their stride to lead the pack from the outset. Reigning champions Dundalk were swift to respond, briefly wresting the leadership from the Foylesiders in late November before gradually fading to fourth place by seasons end, a distant nine points off the pace. Turning into the New Year the Lilywhites rarely threatened to retain the trophy they had so dramatically snatched twelve months earlier. Overall, it was a transitional period for the Oriel Park club with a clutch of youngsters seeking to establish themselves within the ranks of Turlough O'Connors ageing warriors. Neither was the wily O'Connor's cause helped by the sharp decrease in strike rates of Terry Eviston and in particular Peter Hanrahan, the leagues top marksman in '91, nor indeed, by the clubs paltry home support.

Bohemians, meanwhile, showed a marked improvement as Eamonn Greggs young bucks started to gel at last. After flirting around the relegation zone for an uncomfortably long period the previous term, Bohs' uptempo performance was reflected by attaining fifth position, reaching the League Cup decider and, of course, lifting the FAI Cup. The Gypsies hinted at their potential by hitting third spot before Christmas but a slump from the end of January to mid-March which included crucial defeats against Derry City, Shelbourne, Dundalk and Cork City, the four clubs to finish above them, ended their outside hopes of a runners-up spot.

The campaign was extremely disappointing for Shamrock Rovers, particularly at the RDS where a string of reversals and inept displays exhausted chairman John McNamara's patience and cost Noel King his job. His replacement, ex-international and former Rover, Ray Treacy, fared little better, scraping a meagre two league wins in four months after ruthlessly weeding his inherited squad and failing to integrate his new arrivals in the time remaining. The surprising release of David Campbell escalated into a prolonged breach of contract dispute while the inability of Paul Doolin, King's big-money signing from Portadown, to re-settle with the Hoops was another blow for the club. A first round Cup exit kept the pressure on Treacy to get the side back on track but he was largely unable to do so as Rovers remained firmly bogged down in the mid-table slot they had occupied since his appointment. Not a vintage season for the fans at Ballsbridge but certainly an eventful one.

While Rovers' problems began in mid-season, Dublin rivals St. Patrick's Athletic had troubles before a ball was even kicked. Henderson, McDonnell and Moody crossed the southside to the RDS, Fenton and Lawless were enticed to join Bohemians while 'B' international Curtis Fleming linked up with Middlesbrough.

Thus the backbone of Brian Kerr's 89/90 championship side had been ripped out while several other squad members also departed for pastures new. The exodus from Harolds Cross was rooted in the protracted boardroom dramas of takeover and rumoured takeover, spiralling debts, growing frustration with the delayed return to Richmond Park and general confusion over the health of the club which seemed to waver all season long between imminent demise and last minute salvation. The troops may have deserted en masse to better paymasters but Kerr succeeded, for one more season, to fend off every bid for Mark Ennis, arguably the country's most lethal striker. Ennis's goals complemented Kerr's guile to take the club safely into mid-table, never worried by relegation, and with the additional bonus of a Cup semi-final run. Under such difficult circumstances these achievements should be regarded as significantly as anything Kerr has accomplished with the Saints.

The remaining five clubs fought out the relegation battle which in the end was a much keener affair than the challenge for honours. Bray Wanderers, with a bankrupt forward division, looked certain for the drop. Sligo Rovers, with Dermot Keely resigning only to return, also hit troubled waters and spent much of the season floating just above the trapdoor positions, a huge disappointment following the club's fifth placing in '91. If the Showgrounds managerial turnaround was unusual it paled when compared to the situation further down the west coast at Galway where Joey Malone was sacked, asked back, finally agreed and subsequently resigned! The loss of the Glynn-Keane Cup winning partnership, though Keane soon returned after an unhappy spell at Sligo, coupled with the pre-season hotseat saga and disastrous Euro encounter with Odense meant Galway were struggling for survival from early on. On the banks of the Boyne, meanwhile, the loss of a point deducted by the League after problems with Harry Kenny's transfer fee, hung like a millstone around Drogheda United and very nearly proved critical. The other club in the basement struggle, Athlone Town, saw manager Pat Devlin landed with a very severe six-months ban following his hotly contested dismissal from the Brandywell dug-out. Being the year that was in it, Devlin, too, stepped down only to be persuaded back by the St. Mel's board but in the end the sentence proved a crippling disadvantage for the Midlands despite some fine late results.

As the season rapidly closed any two from this quintet were still likely to draw the short straws as a most intriguing scenario unravelled. Immediately after a vital win at Bray, which seemed to guarantee their survival, Galway's form took a severe nosedive from which the Terrylanders never recovered, condemning the club to the lower flight for the first time. Sligo travelled to United Park on the last day where on-loan Colin Cameron's hat-trick secured Premier status for another year while Drogheda, despite that setback, also hung on. An amazing finale by Bray, the lowest scorers in the land, surprised both Cup finalists, Cork City and Bohemians, to escape the dreaded bottom two. Athlone, after a valiant effort to stay up still required a closing day "houdini" victory at St. Pats to extend their four year tenancy in the top division. Alas, a 6-3 hiding put paid to their slim hopes and they joined luckless Galway for the plunge.

At the other end of the table there was no repeat of the previous years cliffhanger as Derry City led from the start with eventual winners Shelbourne back the field as a variety of teams jostled around the top four places. The Candystripes, however, exploded in February allowing the Tolka outfit to regain the pole position they had held for two weeks in December and which they would not relinquish again. Shelbourne firmly grasped this second opportunity, leading the country's goalchart and boasting the best "away" record in the league. Surprisingly, perhaps, their Tolka Park statistics were noticeably inferior to their on the road performances. On home soil Shelbourne picked up five points less, scored fewer goals and conceded more than they did on opponents' grounds. Derry papered their cracks sufficiently to pose a weak late challenge but Cork City came storming from the pack after inauspicious early form delayed their expected threat until well into the New Year. The only club with an unbeaten home record, Cork's recovery had seen just one defeat in 23 games and was at full throttle coming into the finishing straight, even if their title hopes carried longer odds than Shelbourne's. They seemed at least certain to again cross the line second. Matters came to a head on St Patrick's Day when two sensational red-card decisions, for goalkeeper Jody Byrne and Anto Whelan, were mainly responsible for nine-man Shelbourne's 0-5 home capitulation to a ruthless Derry. Cork City, benefiting from a later kick-off, took on doomed Athlone at St. Mel's fully aware of the startling events at Tolka. City were soon two goals to the good and a previously unexpected hectic wind up to the league seemed likely. But then, incredibly, Athlone, fighting for survival and not just pride, hit an astonishing three goal reply to shock the Leesiders and halt their late challenge in its tracks. Pat Byrne's men realised the title was finally theirs for the taking and responded by trouncing Galway and a week later lifting the prized trophy at long last at the home of retiring champions, Dundalk, a fitting way to be installed as the new League of Ireland kingpins.

There remained the matter of the UEFA Cup spot with Cork, despite the St. Mel's fiasco, still favourites for the bridesmaids role. Derry, however, although hampered by a seemingly serious Brandywell reversal against Dundalk, did just enough to pip the southerners and claim the runners-up consolation, though they were largely helped by Cork once again self-destructing at Bray.

To be crowned League of Ireland Champions for the first time in exactly 30 years was not only a source of pride for a traditionally great club like Shelbourne but also a suitable reward for the restructuring and investment undertaken by the Tolka Park board over the past few seasons. Shels claimed their eighth title by a clear five points, easily the best outfit in the country and extremely popular winners. The pennant was won stylishly while off-field consolidation and courage has made Shelbourne a paragon for other clubs to emulate. Pat Byrne and his squad did the business where it mattered - on the pitch - but chairman Tony Donnelly, charismatic secretary Ollie Byrne and their colleagues equally played heroes' parts behind the scenes.

First Division Review

Limerick and Waterford Bounce Back

Having lost their Premier ranking for the first time ever the previous April, Limerick City were soon to the fore in their unfamiliar surroundings when a 4-1 home victory over Kilkenny earned them top spot by the end of November. After struggling long and hard before losing the relegation battle, the Rathbane Blues took on their new leadership role with relish and never subsequently relinquished the position. The Shannonsiders looked across the Irish Sea for a player-manager to mastermind their return and settled on the much travelled San Allardyce, a man with two decades of English football behind him. It was a brave decision as a similar move twelve months earlier involving Kenny Clements had quickly turned sour and also because Allardyce, for all his playing mileage, was untried at managerial level. The teak tough centre-half was soon into his stride, however, restoring lost confidence and pride and his re-assembled team, built on the tightest of budgets, took the title at a canter. Like Shelbourne "upstairs", Limerick had a comfortable five points to spare and their magnificent away form ensured they were never seriously threatened.

The real contest in the division was for the second promotion voucher. Cobh Ramblers were installed favourites for this when UCD faded as the home straight came into sight. Ramblers hung on as the likely candidates despite the handicap of very average home results and a paucity of goalpower highlighted by George Mellerick's use of on-loan strikers in an attempt to solve the problem. Sean Francis, with five goals in a dozen outings seemed to fit the bill before being recalled by Birmingham City. His replacement, clubmate David Foy, did not impress and was soon on his way back to St. Andrews. Out of favour at Shelbourne following the signing of Garry Haylock and Mark Rutherford, Paul Newe, a player with a proven goalpoachers pedigree, fared better, averaging a goal every second game to sustain the Rams' challenge but, unaided by another tallyman after young Alan O'Neill was signed by the "Brummies", he was unable to carry Cobh to Premier qualification. The loss of O'Neill, a brilliant prospect, at such a vital stage was a crippling blow to the East Cork side.

As Ramblers' bid began to falter, UCD gained renewed hope and put in a determined late effort, peaking with a St. Patrick's Day thrashing of leaders Limerick City. College, with Gary O'Sullivan, Darren O'Brien, Paul Cullen and Packie Lynch firing on all cylinders, were suddenly set to overtake Cobh as the sprint to the line gathered pace. They were joined by another late challenger, Waterford United, to increase the pressure for the vital runners-up place. Having topped the table before Limerick monopolised pole position, Alfie Hale's squad had gradually slipped out of the frame to be a worrying three points clear of the re-election positions at the end of January. But the effervescent Hale, drawing on all his motivational powers, sparked a Blues side liberally sprinkled with youth, to a storming twelve game unbeaten finishing burst to pip a hugely disappointed Cobh by a point and clinch an immediate return to the top flight. Crucial to the Kilcohan turbocharge were comprehensive wins on successive Sundays against their rivals. The Students were blasted 3-0 on Suirside while a hat-trick from former fullback

Kevin Kelly plundered an invaluable 3-1 victory at St. Colman's Park. Yet still, as the final day dawned, shattered Cobh could have stolen the glory if Waterford slipped up at home to already crowned Limerick City. Hale's swashbucklers, needing a point to pop the champagne, trailed by a goal as full-time rapidly approached before Pascal Keane snatched an equaliser to produce delirious scenes at the famous venue. It later became clear when word filtered through from Cobh where Kilkenny had shared the spoils that even a defeat would have seen Waterford up on goal difference. Such calculations, however, were far from the thoughts of the happy Blues intent on celebrating their amazing comeback. For Alfie Hale in particular, such a magnificent servant of domestic football, it was a deserved reward.

Elsewhere, matters were extremely tight with just three points at one stage covering eight of the divisions ten teams. St. James's Gate, after a disastrous beginning in which they failed to score in all but one of their opening eleven matches, slowly found their way to end up a creditable fifth. The remarkable recovery by the Iveagh club was mirrored by another run to the Cup semi-final. Finn Harps might have made it into the promotion shake-up if appalling home form had not held them back. A single victory from thirteen attempts at Ballybofey condemned the once powerful club to yet another year in First Division exile. It proved too much to bear for manager John O'Neill and he stepped down with club secretary Alex Harkin seeing the season out in the hot seat. Con McLaughlin again proved his worth to the Finn Park club by ending the campaign as the division's joint top marksman to maintain his personal record at this level. Since it was formed seven seasons ago, McLaughlin has topped the First Division charts no less than four times, three of which were shared achievements.

Bill Bagsters Monaghan United, dark horses in the eyes of many observers, began cautiously but five defeats on the trot sent their aspirations reeling. Bagster stuck to his task and his philosophy of trying to football his way out of trouble with Martin Bayly orchestrating events on the field. The Ulster side responded with a ten match unbeaten sequence but still struggled to repair the early damage. At Kilkenny, local hopes were high after reaching the last four in the Cup in '91 but very erratic performances saw the Cats drop from third in mid-December to bottom with just three matches remaining. Former international Noel Synnott was sacked in the midst of this slide with veteran Kieran Maher taking over in a caretaker capacity. Maher, while still running out with the first eleven, did just enough to squeeze the side up to eighth spot and so avoid a re-election application.

Home Farm and Longford Town propped up the bunch. The Whitehall side began poorly but recuperated briefly to hit the top four by New Year only to plummet again to the basement. Karl Gannon, Gareth Kelly and Christian Bowes were the stars of Theo Dunnes youngsters. Longford, however, must rank as the most disappointed of all the sides in the division. Having got off to a "flier", unbeaten in their opening seven games, a 0-3 home defeat to Waterford United saw Con Flanagan's boys drop all the way to tenth spot at seasons end.

Current Top Scorers in League of Ireland Football (as at end season 1991-92)

This feature details those players who have scored 50 or more goals in the L.O.I. championship and who made at least one appearance during last season. In both this and an accompanying section on 'All time top scorers' every effort has been made to ensure the accuracy of the information included, however it should be noted that differences of opinion especially concerning the controversial subject of 'own goals' frequently arise.

JIMMY TURNBULL, DOUBLE RECORD HOLDER

HOTSHOT
FLASHBACK

When, in the summer of 1935, the directors of Cork FC signed Englishman Jimmy Turnbull to fill the clubs troublesome centre-forward berth, they could hardly have anticipated just how effective their new man would prove to be. The Leesiders had ended the season in bottom position, winning a meagre three league matches with Bobby Buckle and Jim O'Neill joint top scorers on six goals. Turnbolls arrival not only solved the clubs net-finding problems but also shattered all existing Irish records and set standards which even today, almost sixty years later, are still beyond emulation. Indeed, Jimmy Turnbull's incredible tally would be out of the reach of most teams in the modern era, let alone individual strikers.

His career started originally in America following his emigration as a teenager. It was in the States that he honed his natural football skills before returning to his native land in 1932 when he accepted terms from Brough Fletcher, manager of Barnsley. After two seasons with the "Colliers" who achieved promotion to the Second Division before his departure, he moved on to his hometown club, Gateshead, which also operated in the old Third Division North. One season was spent at Redheugh Park before crossing the Irish Sea where his name became legendary on both sides of the border.

On Sunday, 25 August, 1935, the Mardyke regulars got their first sight of Turnbull as Cork defeated a Munster selection 4-0 in a friendly. He obliged with two goals. The previous day he had lined out somewhat anonymously in a 0-2 Shield defeat versus Bohemians at Dalymount Park. But the following Sunday, on his competitive home debut, the new boy set the record straight in no uncertain fashion, notching half of Cork's total in an astonishing 10-3 trouncing of Dolphin. It was an impressive way to open an account and an ominous signal to opposing defences. Nonetheless, Cork's Shield form was erratic with just four wins from eleven games, though fourteen of the twenty-eight goals scored bore Turnbull's signature.

The League campaign began with little hint that his scoring rate would continue. Reds United stole a 2-0 win at the 'Dyke although Jimmy gleaned his first championship goal in the next outing at the Iveagh Grounds, a 3-2 success against St. James's Gate. One goal in 180 minutes hardly set the world on fire but then, at the end of November, the Turnbull goalmachine burst into life. Sligo's visit to the 'Dyke may have ended 3-3 but all the goals were Turnbolls and he went one better within a week at Kilcohan Park where Waterford were downed 4 - 1. Dundalk managed to shackle him at Oriel Park but over the next three months there wasn't a defensive unit which could hold him as the goals rained in from all angles. The prolific sequence included another four goal blast against Bray Unknowns while he plundered hat-tricks against Shamrock Rovers and Dolphin.

Cork stormed up the table on the crest of a goal wave, getting within shouting distance of the crown at one stage but ultimately failing to keep pace with Bohemians. Third spot was secured, a huge improvement in twelve months.

Match reports were invariably sub-titled "Two more for Turnbull" or "Turnbull gets his usual brace". Cork scored 61 league goals compared to 30 the previous season, Turnbull responsible for a phenomenal 37, of which six were penalties. The previous League of Ireland (or, the Football League of the Irish Free State as it was more correctly known until 1937/38) record had been set five seasons earlier by a Scot, Alex "Sandy" Hair, who registered 29 strikes in Shelbourne's colours. To date only one other player, another Scot, Jimmy Gauld, has reached 30 league goals in a season. Gauld achieved this distinction with Waterford in 1954/55.

Cork's improved league performance and the almost guaranteed goal or two from the irrepressible Turnbull saw the side begin a Cup run which eventually brought them to the final as practical certainties to win.

They had started shakily enough against Bray Unknowns, a club still awaiting its first league win of the season, but Turnbull salvaged the tie with both goals in a 2-2 draw and added two more in the 6-1 replay win in Bray. A trip to Bohemians, the holders and champions elect, was the dubious reward and once again Cork relied on Jimmy to bring the replay to the Mardyke where he claimed another couple in the homesters 3-2 win. Drumcondra were knocked out 5-2 at the first time of asking in the semi and Jimmy bagged three to install his side as red hot favourites for the showdown with Shamrock Rovers. In three meetings with the "Hoops" that season, the Leesides had come out tops each time and Turnbull had rammed home five goals in the process despite missing the last league clash at Milltown through injury.

History relates that he duly registered his Cup Final goal with ten minutes remaining but earlier strikes from Rovers' great Paddy Moore and Charlie Reid ensured the Glenmalur sides name went on the famous trophy for the seventh time. Consolation for Jimmy was his eleven goal Cup haul, another record which still stands.

Jimmy Turnbull wound up the season with a successful penalty against Glasgow Celtic in a testimonial for Johnny Paton, a former Celt, who had skippered Cork to Cup glory two years earlier. It turned out to be his last goal for the club. In 1927/28 Everton's Dixie Dean had set a Football League record with 60 goals in 39 matches; Turnbull had just finished the season with 63 competitive strikes from 40 games. Despite favourable comparison with Dean, albeit on a lower level of competition, the Cork directors felt Turnbull did not justify the £50 signing-on fee he sought for the new season.

The famous Elisha Scott, however, just retired and concentrating on full-time management, swiftly lured Jimmy to Belfast Celtic and Corks loss was certainly Celtics gain as he hit an astonishing 82 goals in his first season up North, 43 in the league and a hat-trick versus Linfield in the Cup Final. The following year, as Celtic completed back-to-back doubles, Turnbull chalked up another 36 league goals and brought his all-competitions total to 144 in just two seasons!

In July, 1939, he returned south, becoming the first-ever signing of the new Cork City club and on St. Stephen's Day he became the first player to claim a Munster Cup Final hat-trick. That provincial cup win against Limerick proved to be City's only trophy as the club sensationally collapsed in mid-season at the end of January. It also proved to be Turnbull's last hurrah as, dogged by ongoing poor health, he drifted to Munster Senior League football with Evergreen, returning for a couple of games with Cork United before retiring.

Jimmy Turnbull was lethal with both feet and with his head, he had a sharp football brain but possibly his greatest asset was his natural speed - he was a sprint champion in England's North East - and he possessed the true hallmark of all great strikers, an insatiable appetite for goals. Although the League of Ireland only saw him at his best for one full season, his double record is ample testimony to the phenomenon that was Jimmy Turnbull.

FAI Harp Lager Cup 1992 Cork City Buttoned by Bohs

The opening match of the 71st FAI Cup was played on St. Valentine's night at Dalymount Park but there was little of the competitions storied romance in evidence as Bohemians stumbled past Leinster Senior Leaguers Bluebell United. There can have been few among the sparse attendance that Friday evening who could have envisaged the Gypsies' ultimate triumph at Lansdowne Road in May. Indeed Bohs had to overcome the shock of falling behind before a brace from Joe Lawless, the second in the final minute, steered them unimpressively into the next round.

The first round also saw the previous years surprise winners, Galway United, comfortably begin their defence against Fermoy. Elsewhere, county Louth neighbours, Dundalk and Drogheda United ended the respective hopes of Kilkenny City and Longford Town, though both required replays and extra-time. In all - First Division clashes, Monaghan United also needed a second match to dispose of Cobh Ramblers while UCD accounted for Finn Harps over ninety minutes. Several non-league sides, meanwhile, performed gallantly before making their anticipated early exits. Pegasus fell to Limerick City, runaway leaders of the lower division, by a single goal; College Corinthians lost to Premier toppers Shelbourne at Tolka; Ashtownville were denied a repeat of their 1991 heroics, bowing out by the odd goal in three at Bray and Intermediate Cup holders Edenmore surrendered to Cork City. Other non-League of Ireland clubs, however, did come up trumps with Donegal's Fanad United travelling to Whitehall to dispense with Home Farm while Wayside Celtic enjoyed a happy return from Kilcohan Park having stunned Waterford United.

Moyle Park ousted fellow-minnows Glenmore Celtic to ensure a third non-league name went into the hat. St. James's Gate, propping up the First Division, surprised top flight Athlone Town while the round was completed by a couple of head-to-head Premier tussles in which St. Pats claimed the most famous cup scalp of them all, that of Shamrock Rovers, on a fully merited 3-1 scoreline though Sligo Rovers were unfortunate to eventually succumb to Derry City, in a second replay, having lead the tie three times.

The second round also had a Friday night start and once again Bohemians were involved in the opener. The Phibsborough side may not have set the presses hopping with that inept display against Bluebell but they served full notice of their intentions with a clearcut and deserved 2-0 triumph against champions Dundalk at Oriel Park. A couple of second half goals from Dave Tilson, a name destined to be synonymous '92 blue riband, was the source of the Dublin 7 glee. A day later at Red Cow the competitions fastest goal from Ian Hill helped Limerick City to again knock out non-league opposition in Moyle Park though they required a second from Tommy Fitzgerald to book their passage.

The round got into full swing on the Sunday and holders Galway United made a tame exit at always - awkward Bray. St. Pats eased past UCD with on-loan striker Morrys Scott hitting the decisive goal after the students had achieved equality. The remaining non-leaguers, Fanad and Wayside Celtic, battled bravely to keep the flag flying. Fanad salvaged their game against St. James's Gate with a second half equaliser while Wayside stormed back against Monaghan, wiping out a two goal deficit with a double burst in the last seven minutes. Two all-Premier encounters completed the line-up. At United Park, Drogheda earned a midweek visit to Turner's Cross courtesy of Paul Brogan's reply to Paul Bannon's early strike while the top-billing clash at the Bradywell saw Championship pacesetters Shelbourne send fancied Derry crashing out thanks to Garry Haylocks golden goal.

All the replays proved dramatic. The Cork - Drogheda match was tense and uneventful but suddenly exploded when Stephen Napier put City ahead on 50 minutes and four minutes later a splendid diving header from Pat Morley had the homesters coasting. However, an instinctive fisted goal-line clearance from Napier at the three-quarter stage changed the mood completely. The young full-back was red-carded and John Toal's penalty opened the game right up.

Drogheda, with Declan Geoghegan inspirational throughout, penned City back as they strove for parity before an amazing solo goal from John Caulfield in the dying seconds eased Cork's frayed nerves.

At Gortakeegan, Monaghan United finally denied brave Wayside but had to wait till the last minute before Philip Power pierced the Celtic rearguard. Meanwhile at Trialough, Kavanagh and McKeever exchanged goals within sixty seconds of each other so Fanad and the 'Gate were fated to meet again. Unfortunately for the Dublin amateurs, the toss of a coin meant another long and expensive journey to the remote peninsula. The locals twice grabbed the lead through Harkin and McElwaine only for the 'Gate to counter via Kavanagh and Seville. The tie was eventually decided in the second period of extra-time when another Colm Seville goal ended Fanad's campaign and also terminated the remaining non-league interest in the Cup.

The quarter-finals began, symbolically, with Bohemians yet again first into the action, this time coming fact to face with powerful northside rivals Shelbourne. Both clubs had illuminated the second round after cautious starts in the first and their fine wins in Dundalk and Derry installed their meeting as the juggernaut clash of the last eight. Tilson again made the scoresheet to give Bohs the lead but former international Gary Howlett rescued the Reds, to set up a Fool's Day encore.

High-flying Limerick City travelled optimistically to Leaside and gave the home team no end of trouble, a fact reflected in a 'man of the match' award for Cork's stand-in keeper Alek Ludzik who had made his cup debut as far back as 1970. The Rathbane Blues were disrupted by a serious injury to full-back Alan Dalgarno and were caught a minute before the break when Dave Barry blasted home. Twenty minutes after the turnover Cormac Cotter's cool finish put the game beyond Sam Allardyce's troops.

A small piece of history was witnessed at the Iveagh Grounds as Monaghan United made their first appearance at this stage but despite Derek Murray's penalty an otherwise disappointing display saw them lose out to St. James's Gate who registered through young Declan Reilly and hero of the previous round Colm Seville. At Harolds Cross a 35th minute goal from veteran Damien Byrne killed off Bray Wanderers and increased the prospects of Brian Kerr at last guiding the Saints to Cup glory.

The last semi-final place was decided in the rounds only replay, at Tolka Park, where Shelbourne's dreams of a league and cup double were shattered as Bohemians and Tilson again produced the goods to claim another superb result. The match was not without its share of controversy, however, most notably when, following a goalmouth melee, Garry Haylock beat John Connolly but the score was ruled out for an infringement. Still, Shels went out in style playing the brand of football that won the rejuvenated old club so many admirers over the season.

Bohemians had last reached the penultimate stage in 1990, the clubs centenary year, when they were shell-shocked by surprise packets St. Francis. Opponents St. James's Gate, in their second successive semi, were determined to improve on what had also been a disappointing occasion for them. Despite the incentive for both outfits to erase bitter memories, neither side could score.

Cork City, also benefitting from the dubious "first club drawn plays at home" semi-final rule, encountered a bellicose St. Patrick's Athletic. A tough uncompromising tête-à-tête with an abundance of clattering bodies but little imaginative play was settled on the hour when old hand Paul Bannon scooped a clever Morley pass to the net.

The Gypsies may have been slow out of the blocks originally against St. James's but an electrifying first 45 minutes in the rematch, orchestrated by Pat Fenlon, reserved their Final berth. Fenlon inspired another two-goal salvo from Lawless before adding a third himself a minute before the interval. Seville recorded a late consolation for a clearly second fiddle Crumlin outfit.

May 10th dawned grey and threatening but the large Cork contingent, estimated at 10,000, was met by an equally colourful Bohemian army as Lansdowne was set for a festive, family occasion. Soon, however, the open North and South terraces, in the first all-seater decider, were abandoned as heavy showers scattered the travelling legions to the shelter of the stands. It also made for less than ideal footballing conditions.

Bohs, however, were quickly into their stride, splitting a nervous Cork defence only for Harrington to thwart Tilson. City responded after five-minutes but Caulfield scorned the opportunity, shooting straight at Connolly. It was to be their best chance of the afternoon. Cork, the pre-match favourites, collectively failed yet again to rise to the big occasion and the Phibsborough side, sensing their opponents unease, were confident in every department. Bohs were purposeful, playing the ball about swiftly and to feet while City were aimless and seemingly without a coherent game plan which was quite in contrast to the positive, uninhibited league form they had shown since before Christmas. Simply put, Bohs went for it on the day while City froze with Hyde a notable exception and Harrington also, perhaps, at least until he was caught for the goal.

Whelan and Best comfortably shackled the usually potent Morley-Caulfield combination while rookie Broughan was never troubled by the experienced but ineffective McCabe. In midfield the Byrnes, Tommy diminutive but inventive and Alan fearsome and fearless over-ran the feeble challenge of the normally combative duo of Barry and Cotter leaving the over-worked Hyde the futile task of holding the sector almost single-handedly. Amidst Cork's central confusion Fenlon availed of every opportunity to release Lawless, Tilson or King. Murphy and Napier were decidedly uncomfortable on City's defensive flanks while in the middle the formidable pairing of Bannon and skipper Daly looked slow and was regularly exposed. For all of Bohemians sharpness, the game nonetheless seemed to be drifting to a goalless stalemate when the most direct of scores, brilliantly finished but leaving large question marks over it's concession, deservedly won for Eamonn Greggs lads their fifth Cup and the clubs first since 1976. Following a goalmouth scramble and subsequent quick free, Connolly sent a long ball through the middle where Tommy Byrne and Fenlon, the smallest men on the pitch, overcame lethargic challenges to head the ball into the path of Tilson who did not need a second invitation to beat the stranded Harrington with some aplomb.

It was the third season on the trot that Bohs had ended City's hopes though this defeat, at the final hurdle, was the cruellest of all. Tilson, the destroyer, had just bagged his fifth goal of the Gypsies' six in the sequence.

Spoiled by the weather, punctuated by poor refereeing and short-changed by Cork's ineptitude, it was not the greatest of Cup Finals but Bohemians, because of their attitude and discipline on the day coupled with outstanding results in earlier rounds, were worthy winners of the FAI Harp Lager Cup.

THE LEAGUE CUP

3 from 4 for the Candystripes

New Years Day 1992 was a significant milestone in the career of Derry City manager Roy Coyle. Having come to 'Foyle'side' the previous June with a record of success second to none in Irish League football, in particular whilst manager at Linfield, his new club now provided Coyle with a first ever L.O.I. trophy, the League Cup. As for the club themselves, appearing in a record fourth League Cup final in a row, this triumph was a welcome boost to morale in a difficult first season for the new manager. The disappointment for Bohemians of having lost at the final hurdle was to be short lived, success in the F.A.I. Cup just four short months later putting broad smiles back on the faces of the Dalymount faithful.

The format this season saw little change from that used in recent times with one controversial exception in relation to the Quarter Final draw, more on this later. As for line up changes, the Connaught Senior League who last season competed in Group 'B' were replaced by one of their own more prominent clubs, Salthill Devon, whilst Bray Wanderers and St. James's Gate switched groups in the Dublin area, a move which, it must be said, did little to improve on the previous seasons performance of either.

In Group 'A' it was once again Cork City showing good early form who topped the group, qualifying for the quarter finals. There was a notable difference this time around however as Cobh Ramblers who had never before defeated their 'City' rivals in a competitive game scored a one nil home victory following a superb volley from Martin Reid. A point dropped to Reid's former club Waterford United in the final game left the 'Rams' once again out in the cold however, if only on goal difference. Waterford propped up the others, their only point secured being that one at home to Cobh Ramblers.

Group 'B' saw Galway United again make it through to the last eight despite an excellent showing by new look Longford Town. The crucial game when these two met in Terryland Park saw the "Tribesmen" well in control and winning comfortably by three goals to nil. In an unpredictable group which saw some strange results, new boys Salthill Devon gained their only point in a creditable two-all away draw with Limerick City.

Group 'C' was without question the most clear cut of all as Dundalk thrashed the opposition winning all three games decisively and scoring nine goals five of those to the League's top scorer in 1990/91 Peter Hanrahan. Bottom of the heap with a solitary point were Athlone Town a forewarning of the difficult season which lay ahead for the 'Midlanders'.

The first group to provide a second qualifier was group 'D' where Sligo Rovers and Derry City finished joint top with five points apiece and 'Rovers' claiming group honours on goal difference. For both Finn Harps and Fanad United their only point secured was as a result of the one all draw with each other a disappointing showing for both in a group which had proved far more competitive all around the previous season.

In the first of the Dublin groups we again had two qualifiers in Bohemians and St. Patricks Athletic. Certainly the 'Gypsies' showed the way in gaining maximum advantage from a minimum scoring rate clocking up three one nil wins in succession. The first of these proved decisive in winning the group as a second half strike by Joe Lawless against his former club St. Patricks Ath. gave 'Bohs' the narrowest of victories. Subsequently, two clear cut wins for 'Pats' against U.C.D. and St. James's Gate saw them also qualify.

In the last of the six groups, the second Dublin based one, things certainly began on a subdued note as both opening encounters, Home Farm v Bray Wanderers and Shamrock Rovers v Shelbourne, ended scoreless. Following this it was 'Shels' who took the initiative in this group and two good wins over 'Farm' and Bray gave them qualification with ease whilst the 'Hoops' joined Cobh Ramblers as the only unbeaten sides failing to make the quarter finals. Given that Cork City, Galway United and St. Patricks Ath. had all suffered defeat during the group phase yet still advanced both could count themselves unlucky.

So to the quarter finals and that aforementioned controversy in relation to the draw. This occurred following the decision to insist on all four games taking place under lights, effectively excluding half the remaining teams from playing at home! Coupled with another ill-advised move in continuing with regionalisation of the competition despite having reached the knock-out stages this meant that without doubt it was devalued in the eyes of many. In effect the quarter final draw was completely contrived, an unfortunate precedent to be set at the latter stages of a national competition. As a result of this manipulation both Bohemians and St. Patricks Athletic and Sligo Rovers and Derry City met for a second time, while Shelbourne played host to Cork City and Dundalk entertained Galway United.

In the repeat of the North West 'derby' at the Brandywell, a first half strike by Paul Curran was enough to see Derry City through at Sligo's expense. Meanwhile at Oriel Park a similar scoreline saw Dundalk overcome the challenge of Galway United, again a first half strike, this time by ex Irish Youth International Ricky McEvoy, proving decisive. As for Shelbourne's encounter with Cork City this produced what was probably the match of the competition, indeed some observers describing it as one of the best L.O.I. games witnessed in recent seasons! Three goals apiece after 90 minutes, it took an injury time 'own goal' by City's 'player of the year' Paul Bannon to give the 'Reds' victory. Earlier goals by Coyle, Howlett and Gorman (pen) for Shelbourne and by Caulfield with two and Murphy for Cork had kept the sizable crowd enthralled. The fourth and last quarter final once again saw Bohemians defeat St. Patricks Ath. by the only goal of the game with Joe Lawless again doing the damage to his former team-mates scoring in the first half. It's interesting to note, given the controversy surrounding the draw, that all four 'home' sides advanced to the semi-finals.

The semi-final draw saw Dundalk at home to Bohemians and Derry City at home to Shelbourne, the only one of the quartet not to have won the League Cup. In Oriel Park second half goals by Pat Fenlon and Lee King gave 'Bohs' an impressive win which saw the 'Gypsies' reaching their first League Cup final since 1979 and only their third in all. This season in fact Bohemians were victorious in League, F.A.I. Cup & League Cup clashes in Oriel Park an impressive statistic.

Meanwhile at the Brandywell a single goal was enough to see Derry City through to their fourth final in this competition in a row. The winning score came courtesy of Stuart Gauld towards the end of the first half. Strangely enough even though this was the 'Candystripes' seventh major final in their short L.O.I. career to date, it was the first time they would encounter Dublin based opposition.

The final itself was played on New Years Day at Dalymount Park, but unfortunately as reported in the following day's Irish Independent 'was not a game to be remembered.' A scrappy affair, with a surfeit of offside, niggling fouls, and the overuse of referee Gerry McGrath's whistle meant that not surprisingly the initial 90 minutes ended with a scoreless stalemate. There was only one minute left in the first period of extra time when the deadlock was broken and Bohemians finally conceded a goal in this seasons competition. It happened following a half hit clearance by 'Bohs' defender Paul Whelan which Derry's ace striker Jonathan Speak latched on to and belted past goalkeeper Jim Grace. Although the game opened up after this there was to be no further scoring and so Derry retained the trophy. For their goalkeeper Dermot O'Neill the final whistle brought with it his first senior medal in a long and distinguished career ironically against the club he had served so well and for so long.

WATERFORD V FINN HARPS,
25 OCTOBER 1973 - THE FIRST FINAL

LEAGUE CUP
FLASHBACK

The League of Ireland Shield, a famous competition since its inception in 1921/22, though always a poor relation to the Championship and FAI Cup, had, over the intervening five decades, gradually lost its public appeal. This was particularly true in its last couple of runnings when Shield success no longer carried a passport to Europe. In a bid to inject some new life into its secondary competition, the League decided against remedial action, shelved their old reliable and unveiled the new League Cup for the 1973/74 season.

Also devoid of Euro qualification, the fledgling tournament debuted in the autumn before the Championship campaign opened. In format it resembled the most recent style of its predecessor with the clubs split into two sections, though in a curious quirk one group now contained eight teams and the other six. The two eventual qualifiers from the larger section, Cork Hibs and Finn Harps, had the distinction of playing in the competitions first-ever match on September 1st, with Hibs, the last winners of the Shield, seeing off the Donegal side 3-2 at Flower Lodge. Harps, however, secured the vital runners-up spot on the strength of straight wins against Drogheda, Cork Celtic, Limerick, Shelbourne and Athlone Town before winding up with a draw at Home Farm.

Group A, meanwhile, saw Waterford open brightly with a 5-2 win over St. Patrick's Athletic and despite a single-goal defeat at Dundalk, the Blues ensured their semi ticket by taking full points from Shamrock Rovers, Bohemians and Sligo Rovers. The Oriemen, with an identical playing record but an inferior goal average, also made it through.

Both semi-finals were played a fortnight before the decider. Waterford travelled to the 'Lodge to face Hibs and in a tie that lived up to the great rivals' titanic clashes of that period, an injury-hit Kilcohan squad fought back with a Johnny Matthews goal after Jimmy Lumsden had put the locals ahead. Following an enthralling extra-time of thrust and counter-thrust, Waterford held their nerve to go through 5-4 in the penalty shoot-out.

If the all-Munster encounter had provided a feast of flowing football, the Dundalk-Harps clash at Oriel hit the headlines for all the wrong reasons. In the end, Harps came home on the back of an amazing 6-1 result on the Lilywhites home turf with two goals apiece from Joe Nicholl, Jim 'Chang' Smith and Brendan Bradley. Willie McKeever recorded a consolation strike for Dundalk but the tie was overshadowed by the sending off of the Louthmen's player-manager John Smith, the subsequent dismissals of his team-mate Jimmy Dainty and Harps' Chang Smith for fighting and the violent crowd reaction to several other controversial refereeing decisions. The Gardai were out in force as the officials headed for the safety of the dressing rooms under a hail of missiles.

The final was preceeded by different dramas in both camps. On Suirside, Shay Brennan was faced with a major problem following an injury picked up the previous Sunday by Peter Thomas in the Ireland-Poland friendly. Thomas had failed a fitness test while Derek Chessnutt, the club's reserve keeper a season earlier, had been released. The Blues' other registered netminder, Cork GAA stalwart Billy Morgan, fresh from an All-Ireland triumph just a month before, declined to fill the gap. The quandary forced Brennan outside the LOL to sign 18 year old Gerard Sheehan from Munster Senior League side Crosshaven, but the Waterford boss eventually opted to risk full-back Peter Bryan between the posts. Bryan, who ironically had missed the semi-final through injury, had just once before donned the No. 1 shirt during a league match against Cork Celtic a couple of seasons earlier when Thomas had been forced to retire. It was a huge gamble to use an emergency keeper with practically no experience against one of the most prolific forward units in the country.

Patsy McGowan, meanwhile, was prepared to give youth its fling by including teenager Paul McGee, formerly of Sligo Rovers and just returned from his first shot at English football. But Harps' pre-final troubles were off the pitch as the club strongly objected to the chosen venue, Tolka Park, suggesting the Drumcondra stadium had seriously inferior floodlights to Dalymount Park. Further, despite the crowd trouble at the semi-final, the Donegal club canvassed for Oriel Park which, they insisted, had better lights, better facilities, was more central and would entice a bigger crowd. But the League would not budge and Harps, under protest, relented; Tolka would host the first League Cup Final.

A surprisingly large attendance came along that Thursday night, testimony to the drawing power of the two of the leagues most stylish attacking teams. Bryan started competently and grew in confidence as the first half wore on. With half an hour gone his performance was such as to inspire Waterford to new heights and to completely forget their goalkeeping worries. Seven minutes before the break a Dave Kirby shot was finished home by Phil Buck and before Harps could settle, the Blues struck again. Peter Hutton fouled Alfie Hale and from the resultant penalty Johnny Matthews gave Gerry Murray no chance. Just before half-time it seemed as if Harps had made the vital breakthrough from Bradleys strike but Bryan miraculously clawed the ball to safety. On the turnover Harps raised their game and Waterford were forced to backpedal. Bryans goal was peppered but he handled everything like a veteran. His superb display was matched by Hale who tormented the Ballybofey clubs back four throughout the 90 minutes. Tony Macken also, who ten years later would lead Drogheda United to a League Cup triumph, did trojan work in the Waterford midfield as time and again the Harps tide was stemmed. With barely two minutes remaining Charlie Ferry finally beat Bryan but Waterford held out in a hectic finish to ensure their name, deservedly, was the first to be inscribed on the new trophy. It was a memorable if not brilliant first League Cup Final and provided in Peter Bryan a most unlikely goalkeeping hero. For a powerful Waterford side it was yet another honour to add to their six league pennants won over the previous eight seasons, while for Finn Harps the disappointment of defeat would be erased the following April when the FAI Cup was taken home to Donegal.

FIRST DIVISION SHIELD

U.C.D.'s students pass the test

As with the previous season the Shield was again used as a 'filler' competition between the League Cup and the First Division Championship to address the problem of having fewer fixtures in the lower division. Unfortunately, though not surprisingly, it once more failed to capture the public's interest playing second fiddle to Premier Division football for the month of September. Perhaps the best that could be said of this years competition is that it provided U.C.D. with their first L.O.I. trophy since 1984 and afforded them a suitable opportunity to celebrate the 'switching on' of the new and very welcome floodlighting at Belfield.

As for the competition itself, last years format was repeated so that the country was conveniently halved, North and South, with Home Farm and U.C.D. switching to the Northern section and St. James's Gate to the Southern one in order to accommodate the addition of Limerick City and Waterford United both relegated to the First Division last season. Once again both groups proved very tight at the finish, in fact both finalists qualified on goal difference.

In the Northern section the decisive game was played on Aug 22nd when U.C.D. defeated Finn Harps by three goals to nil at Belfield, the scorers being Timmons, Istvan and Cullen, thus leaving the students a point adrift of the Co. Donegal side with a game in hand and a superior goal difference. Subsequently another Paul Cullen goal earned a one-all draw with Home Farm and qualification for the final. As for 'Farm' who were last seasons runners up in the Shield, this was their only point secured in four outings, an early indication of the poor form which would culminate in the need to apply for re-election to the League. Top scorer in this section was Con McLaughlin of Finn Harps who went on to jointly top the First Division scoring chart with 12 goals and in the process pass the 100 mark in League football.

Meanwhile, the Southern section also provided a good indication as to later form with Waterford United and Limerick City who were to finish first and second in the lower Division finishing joint top of this grouping. In spite of an excellent final result for Limerick, away to Cobh Ramblers, in what was probably the best game in this years competition, it was however the 'Suirsidors' who qualified for the final, their first since the F.A.I. Cup decider in 1986. Cobh for the second year running finished bottom of the group whilst St. James's Gate had the rather unusual distinction of drawing all four matches which leaves the club unbeaten in eight Shield games since returning to senior football in 1990. Amongst the goals which helped Waterford to the final was one by goalkeeper Martin Quinlivan in the 3-3 draw with Limerick City at Rathbane.

So to the final, and the First Leg at Belfield on Oct 28th. where a crowd of around 500 were enticed from the comfort of their armchairs to witness the first ever floodlit game at the venue. It proved to be a good open contest with an abundance of chances for both sides, however despite this, the only goal was scored by U.C.D.'s Irish Youth International Ciaran Duffy after 10 minutes following an excellent cross from Ultan McCabe. Thus the 'Students' carried the most slender of advantages into the 2nd leg at Kilcohan Park on the October Bank Holiday Monday. It would however prove crucial to the destination of the trophy.

As with the first game, the return leg provided an early goal, and it was U.C.D.'s Darren O'Brien, following a superb solo effort in the 16th minute, who gave the 'students' a 2-0 aggregate lead. Although the 'Suirsidiers' did manage an equaliser before the interval, through the competition's top scorer Jimmy Browne, try as they might there was no further scoring and U.C.D., to the delight of those fans who had travelled South, held out for a deserved victory.

THE LEINSTER SENIOR CUP

A welcome victory for Athlone Town

It does seem appropriate somehow that in a season which saw the one hundredth running of the country's oldest cup competition, the Leinster Senior Cup, it should be the country's oldest senior club Athlone Town who captured this famous trophy. Certainly for Athlone, founded in 1887, five years prior to the first ever Leinster Senior Cup, their third success in this competition provided some welcome cheer in an otherwise dismal season which saw an early exit from both F.A.I. and League Cup and a prolonged and ultimately unsuccessful battle to avoid relegation.

Prior to the midlanders entering the fray, however, Round 1 began in mid-August with ten games all involving non L.O.I. sides. Amongst the early casualties were both the F.A.I. Intermediate Cup holders Edenmore and their successors Pegasus who lost out to Ashtownville and St. Columbans Boys respectively. One other significant result was a victory for St. Francis against Elm Rovers which launched the F.A.I. Cup giantkillers of 1990 on the road to another major final.

Round 2, which consisted of just six matches, saw five of the first round qualifiers joining with seven L.O.I. clubs, whilst the remaining qualifiers received a bye into the next round. The only real surprise was the defeat of the previous seasons runners-up Bohemians who went down 1-3 after extra time to struggling Drogheda United at United Park. In other games the holders St. Patrick's Athletic were comfortable winners at home to non-league Portlaoise, while St. Francis advanced following a 4-0 drubbing of Swords Celtic.

The eight games in Round 3 saw the entry of the remaining L.O.I. clubs to the competition with one notable exception as Shamrock Rovers opted out on this occasion in protest at manager Noel King's suspension the previous season. St. Francis continued their impressive form with victory over Railway Union after extra time. Shelbourne, Bray Wanderers and Dundalk all making their first appearances saw off the non-league challenge of Ashtownville, Newbridge Town and St. Columbans Boys whilst Drogheda United, Athlone Town and St. Pats accounted for First Division opposition in Kilkenny City, Home Farm and U.C.D. respectively. The outstanding result of Round 3, however, was reserved for the final game at Abbeycartron where goals by Duffy and McMahon gave Leinster Senior League side Lusk United a fully merited 2-0 victory over Longford Town. So then whilst a second non-league side made it through to the last eight, all of Leinsters five First Division clubs were now out of the cup!

In the first Quarter final Athlone Town were drawn at home to surprise qualifiers Lusk United. Despite a creditable performance by the North Co. Dublin side, their interest in this years competition ended however with a 0-3 defeat. The second tie a week later certainly threw up a heavyweight contest between holders St. Pats and would-be league champions Shelbourne. In an excellent game the Inchicoremen served notice of their intention to retain the trophy, goals by Mark Ennis and ex Home Farm man Derek Dunne seeing them through to the Semi-Final.

It was another disappointing result for 'Shels' in this particular competition as the 17 times winners have now failed to reach a provincial final in more than twenty years.

So then to the third Quarter Final at Oriel Park and the shock result of the competition, with league champions Dundalk giving best to the irrepressible St. Francis. The all important goal was scored in the second half by 40 year old veteran Martin Kerr, and despite excuses put forward that this was an understrength Dundalk team, it was nevertheless a superb victory for 'the pride of the Liberties' and they were by no means finished yet. The fourth semi-final spot was secured with relative ease by Drogheda United as two goals by ex 'Shels' man Paul Fahy helped them to a 3-0 home victory over the 'Seasiders' from Bray.

St. Mel's Park provided the venue for the first Semi-Final in all provincial affair between Athlone Town and Drogheda United. In a tense, evenly contested encounter between two sides struggling at the foot of the Premier Division, a second half strike by Richie Parsons was enough to see the 'Midlanders' through to their sixth final.

Perhaps it proved no great surprise that their opponents in that final should be St. Francis, but surely few could have forecast the emphatic nature of their Semi-final victory over holders St. Patricks Ath. The Inchicore club, finalists in four of the previous five seasons, were comprehensively beaten 3-0, with goals from Toner, Sayer and a McElligott own goal. By now St. Francis had already scored 15 goals in the competition and no one doubted they would prove a handful for Pat Devlin's men in the final, which would in fact be the 99th decider as Shelbourne had conceded to Bohemians in season 1902-03 following a row over the referee appointed for the game.

The decider itself was played on Wed. 22nd January at Dalymount Park and for the third time in four seasons a replay was necessary to decide the destination of the trophy. It was however far from being the dull encounter that a 0-0 scoreline might suggest Derek Jones in the 'Irish Times' describing it as an "absorbing Leinster Cup final" while Noel Dunne in the 'Irish Press' commented that "St. Francis put up such a remarkably polished and invigorating display that Athlone Town can count themselves fortunate to have gained a second chance" This reprieve was due in no small measure to midfielder Noel Reid who having replaced the injured Josh Moran at half time, performed heroically in Athlone's goal to keep St. Francis at bay. One other note of interest was that following objections raised with U.E.F.A. this game effectively blocked live television coverage of the Scottish cup tie between Aberdeen and Glasgow Rangers due to be shown on the BSkyB Sports Channel that same evening.

The replay on 29th January although not matching the quality of the first game, certainly provided the goals which had been missing a week earlier. On this occasion there was no doubt as to who were the better team on the night, Athlone cruising to a four goal lead before late strikes by Ken Gibbons and Ben Byrne gave a more respectable look to the scoreline. The first Athlone goal had arrived after only 18 minutes courtesy of Richie Parsons, the goalscoring hero of the Semi-final, and second half strikes from Albert Murphy (p), Martin Nugent and Parsons again brought a smile to many an Athlone face. Meanwhile St. Francis too had much to celebrate, not least their achievement in becoming the first non-league finalist in this competition since Home Farm in 1965. Certainly they had played their part in what was a very exciting 100th Leinster Senior Cup.

In common with the previous season, the 83rd running of the Munster Senior Cup was a fragmented affair which owing to the difficulty of finding suitable dates, venues etc., dragged on for almost nine whole months from mid-August to late April. Unfortunately, though not surprisingly, this meant the competition once again suffered greatly from a lack of continuity. One obvious difference from last season saw the entry of the four L.O.I. clubs in the province delayed until the Quarter Final stage, a move which in hindsight did little if anything to generate greater interest in the Munster Senior Cup. This years competition was dominated by one club, Cork City, who captured their fourth title in five seasons, and in the process equalled the record held by Cork Hibernians of appearing in five consecutive finals. Beaten finalists Everton from Cork's southside contested their first ever provincial decider, and certainly had an eventful run which included receiving a bye to the semi-final courtesy of Limerick City's withdrawal, and winning three penalty shoot outs.

As previously mentioned proceedings began in mid-August when Nenagh defeated Clonmel Town in the seasons only Preliminary Round match. This was quickly followed by the First Rd. with nine games, including Evertons first appearance, against Cobh Wanderers away, where following a scoreless draw the Cork club won a penalty shoot. Top scorers in Round 1 were Avondale United who defeated Casement Celtic 6-2 with Thomas Long bagging four goals.

A month later the competition began to take on a little more shape as the nine First Round winners joined with twenty three others to give sixteen matches in Round 2. By the time rounds three and four were complete this would leave four qualifiers to join the L.O.I. clubs in the Quarter Finals. In this round Everton again needed to win a penalty shoot out before advancing, as their game with Mallow United finished in a 1-1 draw. Midleton, Waterford Glass, and Springfield who would all do well this year, had wins over Newmarket Celtic, Fermoy, and Crofton Celtic respectively. Both Newcastlewest and Carrigaline United hit seven goals, the latters total including five from centre forward Murphy, the best this season. All six counties in the province were represented in Round 2.

Round 3 was run off over two weekends in October, and Everton continued their march towards the final with a comprehensive 6-1 win against Carrigaline United, Waterford Glass had an impressive away win at Newcastlewest, whilst Midleton and Springfield also won away from home at Ballincollig and St. Mary's. The remaining qualifiers were Rockmount, Nenagh, Temple United and last seasons Semi-finalists Wilton United.

In Round 4 the remaining eight teams now played off for the right to be included in the Quarter Final draw. A lone Dermot Duggan goal gave Everton a narrow win against Temple United. Midleton won 2-0 at Wilton United whilst the two remaining games went to extra time before Waterford Glass at Rockmount and Springfield at Nenagh both won on a 2-1 scoreline. Thus Nenagh exited the competition after their fifth match, having not even reached the Quarter finals, whereas Cork City actually won the Munster Cup having played just three times.

So to the Quarter finals themselves and the entry of the L.O.I. clubs. Well actually, not quite all of them, as Limerick City's withdrawal left Everton with an unexpected bonus, a bye to the Semi final. This meant that the first game played was on December 15th in Cobh where Waterford Glass defeated local side Springfield 2-0. On St. Stephen's Day at Knockgriffin Midleton, saw off Cobh Ramblers with an extra time goal from Kenneth Quinn, while the fourth Semi final spot was secured with some ease by Cork City, as visitors Waterford United were hammered 6-0, at Turners Cross, on New Years Day.

At this point the Munster Cup came to an abrupt halt, and didn't in fact resume for another three and a half months when Everton met Midleton in the first semi final at Turners Cross. Following another scoreless draw, and extra time, it was once again Everton, who proved to be the masters in the penalty shoot out, winning 5-3.

The second Semi final took place at the Waterford Glass Sports Complex where the visitors Cork City won comfortably by five goals to two. In a very exciting match the highlight was a hat trick by City's Pat Morley

The final at Turners Cross on 26th April was a story of two halves, the first evenly matched, the second very one sided. For the O'Mahony household there were divided loyalties with brothers Declan and Noel in opposing camps. Having won F.A.I. Cup medals on the same Cork Hibernians team in 1973, Declan was now in the Everton goal, whilst Noel of course, was Cork City's manager. As for Dave Barry, some mixed emotions also, as he had joined City from Everton way back in 1984.

After a pretty uneventful first half, which had ended scoreless, the game changed dramatically in the second period. It began in the 53rd minute when a bad defensive error let in John Caulfield for the opening goal. Another goal within five minutes, again from Caulfield, opened the floodgates. In the 60th minute Pat Morley scored his sixth goal in this years competition, and after a further five minutes, Gerry McCabe scored a smashing individual goal, taking on the entire Everton defence, before slipping the ball past a bemused O'Mahony and into the net. Having conceded four goals in only 12 minutes Everton were still shellshocked when Paul Bannon came up to claim the fifth goal after 85 minutes. One minute later the Munster Senior League side pulled one back through Browne but City and John Caulfield had the final say, completing his hat-trick with only a minute remaining. It was the first hat trick in a Munster Cup decider since Gerry Coyne had knocked in three for Cork Hibs against Limerick in 1973.

So then a third Provincial title in a row for Cork City, who having scored 17 goals in only three games in this years competition, were certainly deserving winners. It will be interesting to see whether their recent domination in the Munster Senior Cup extends to a 6th successive final appearance in season 1992-93.

THE ORIGINAL MUNSTER FOOTBALL ASSOCIATION

The rapid growth of soccer in Ireland during the last two decades of the nineteenth century led eventually to the formation of a provincial association in Munster which was affiliated in those "pre-split" days to the parent body in Belfast. The game had spread swiftly being particularly strong where the British Military were based, the so-called "garrison towns", but it was also very popular among the public or civilian teams as they were then termed, a fact which did not subsequently survive the birth of a nation or the influence of the G.A.A. on Irish society. Indeed, when the first Munster Senior League kicked-off six of the thirteen competing teams were non-military while another, Fermoy Swifts, had had to withdraw. The regimental teams, however, dominated most competitions, winning all but one senior cup for instance, partly because of their ability to train together frequently and also because the locals were as yet somewhat naive on the finer points of a game they were still learning.

The Munster Football Association was formed on 24th August, 1901, at a meeting of club representatives held at 10, Marlboro Street, Cork, now the premises of Houstons Printers. A £1 fee was agreed upon for club registration with a further ten shilling (50p) subscription to be paid annually. Sir Alfred Dobbryn was elected President and Charles Chirside Vice President. In a further echo of the times, the Duke of Connaught later consented to patronize the young association.

Within a month Dobbryn had donated a perpetual cup for a challenge competition, the first Munster Senior Cup, Chirside had gifted a shield and the Elvery Cup was offered by the company of that name. Another significant gesture was that of Mr. J. Butler who made available a field in Turners Cross, then outside the City boundary, in return for a share of any gate receipts. Butlers field, known locally as "the Little Man's", was also frequently used as a G.A.A. venue being the regular home base of the famous Gaelic Football Club, Lees.

On Saturday, 28th September, a representative selection took on the Kings Royal Rifles, holders of the Army Cup, in a challenge match to open the first organised season in the southern province. The league kicked-off on 5th October. A modest attendance which paid £3 -10 -3 (£3.51) at the 'Cross saw the Army Service Corps beat Cork City 2-1; Passage beat Millfield 3-1 while Cork Celtic travelled to Ringaskiddy and defeated navy side HMS Black Prince 4-0. Soccer was on its way in Munster.

At the climax of the season, the Munster Senior Cup went to Fermoy when the 6th Provisions Battalion beat Royal Engineers (Camden) 2-1 at Turners Cross.

The Association blossomed over the next dozen years with more and more clubs springing up and familiar names of that bygone era included Awbeg Rovers (Buttevant), North Mall Swifts, Queenstown Corinthians, Shamrocks United, Cork Rangers, Erins Own, Crosshaven and, of course, the famous Barrackton United. The game was firmly established elsewhere in the province, too, most notably in the Limerick region and Clonmel while many junior leagues were introduced to cater for the increased demand for organised football.

On 30th April, 1909, the MFA attracted great public interest by hosting Manchester City, the first professional English team to play in Cork.

Despite annually strengthening its base, the Munster Football Association suddenly collapsed in 1914 with the outbreak of the First World War. The regimental teams were, for the most part, transferred to the trenches. Huge numbers of civilians also enlisted lured, perhaps, by the prospect of saving small nations. There remained insufficient interested parties to keep the MFA afloat unlike Leinster where the military influence on football had long subsided with the emergence of great clubs such as Bohemians, St. James's Gate and Shelbourne.

Only once in its thirteen year existence had the original Munster Senior Cup been won by a civilian team, Cork Celtic in 1904, but the seeds had been well planted and when football was re-organised in the province in 1922 it again prospered quickly, despite its eight-year hibernation, in Cork, Limerick, Cobh, Tipperary, Waterford and many more Munster towns.

'A Welcome Bonus'

If 1990-91 had provided a 'bonanza' for fans with the number and diversity of teams playing 'friendlies' against Irish clubs, then last season reached even greater heights with a staggering array of 'foreign' sides taking on both L.O.I. and non-league opposition. In total over 100 friendly matches took place between Cork City's trip to the 'Shanghai International Tournament' in early July and Shelbourne's tour of Australia the following June. Apart from the more traditional opposition from the Football League, Northern Ireland and Scotland, Irish clubs were also in action against teams from Australia, China, Czechoslovakia, Holland, Mexico, Norway and Poland.

Once again it was Shelbourne who led the way with fifteen played, which included three in Australia, a further three in the Isle of Man and, nine games at Tolka Park! U.C.D. who toured Norway in August, and Derry City played seven each, the 'Candystripes' also meeting neighbours Finn Harps in the annual 'Ulster Tyre Cup.' Two very successful Tournaments were held in the Capital hosted by Shelbourne and U.C.D. whilst only Home Farm and Longford Town of our 22 senior clubs failed to join the party. Meanwhile T.E.K. United, Ashtownville and Ballinasloe Town did so, doing non-league football proud.

Continuing the good form of the previous season some noteworthy results were achieved, probably the most outstanding one being Cork City's two-nil defeat of Celtic at Musgrave Park. Later the 'Leesiders' held F.A. Cup finalists Sunderland at the same venue. Elsewhere Dundalk had two excellent draws with Celtic and Liverpool, Derry City defeated the 'Pumas' (Mexico) and drew with Everton whilst 'Shels' drew with the 'Pumas', Arsenal, Aston Villa, Leeds United, Western Australia, Australian Capital Territories and the Australian U20 side. Shamrock Rovers also fared well beating both Port Vale and Scottish Premier Division side St. Johnstone, Kilkenny City had an excellent win over Gillingham, whilst results against our Northern neighbours were very encouraging.

So then one of the fastest growth areas in the local scene continues to blossom. Undoubtedly it is playing an increasingly important role in helping some clubs at least to offset their ever increasing costs. For fans it comes as a welcome 'bonus' and judging by the programme already announced for the coming season we are in for an exciting time.

Defunct Competitions

Throughout the 70 year history of the League of Ireland there have been several competitions which although important in their own right, have not endured to the extent that others for example the League Championship, F.A.I. Cup etc. have and are now defunct.

However, in terms of the history of Irish Football these must of course be taken into account and so are included here in an order of importance as is felt appropriate. In truth, deciding on any order of importance is difficult not least as some, like the Inter City Cup, moved outside the confines of League of Ireland football to include opposition from the Irish League. In addition to this some competitions lost their appeal as time went on and became not quite so "important" as they might once have been. Taking the various North/South competitions including of course the Inter City Cup as one for the moment we can then divide this chapter into 5 different sections.

(A) Shield:

From its inception at the very beginning of League of Ireland football in 1921 the Shield held a position of importance second only to the Championship and F.A.I. Cup. Occasionally played as a knockout competition, it was for the most part played on a league basis, generally early on in the season, before the Championship proper began. In latter years from season 1961/62 on it assumed even greater importance as victory meant a place in the Fairs/U.E.F.A. Cup. This changed after season 1970/71 as U.E.F.A. decreed that the Championship runners-up would automatically qualify for the U.E.F.A. Cup and understandably interest in the Shield dropped away rapidly and it was abandoned in favour of the League Cup in 1973. It did make one brief re-appearance in season 1983/84, the winners being Limerick City in their first season in Senior football.

(B) Dublin City Cup:

The Dublin City Cup was introduced in season 1934/35 and like the Shield was run both as a knockout competition and on a League basis. Generally the latter format was favoured during the period 1943-50 when membership of the League was small. It too was a very popular competition and retained its appeal for supporters right up until its abandonment at the end of season 1972/73. Later, two experimental competitions were run off in seasons 1975/76 and 1983/84 but continuity had been broken and both failed to capture the public's attention or indeed to re-appear. One unusual aspect of this competition was the totalling up of the number of corners awarded to determine the victors in the event of a draw. In fact two Dublin City Cup finals were decided in this fashion!

(C) Top Four Cup:

It still remains a mystery to many people as to why the Top Four Cup ever became defunct. Certainly during its relatively short 19 year history between 1956-74 it proved a hugely popular finale to each season for players and supporters alike.

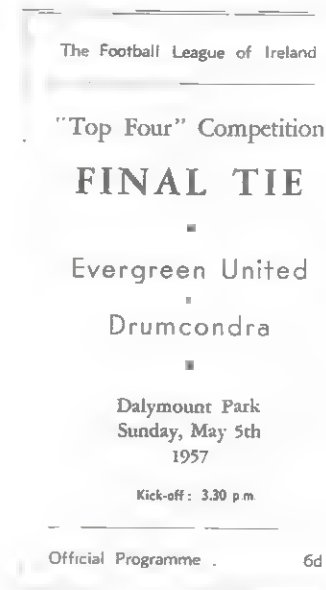

One major reason for this was that it provided an incentive to mid-table teams to make one final push into a top four placing thus giving mundane end of season games some bite. It should be noted that it always took the form of a knockout competition i.e. two semi-finals and the final and never a league format.

(D) Casey Cup:

The lifespan of the Casey Cup was indeed short. It ran for just one season 1962/63 and took the form of two five team groups from which the top two qualified in each group for the semi-finals. Drumcondra won the only ever final defeating Dundalk by 3 goals to nil.

(E) North / South Competitions:

There were five major competitions involving League of Ireland and Irish League clubs in the 40 odd years between 1941-1980. Probably the two most important and certainly the most popular were the Dublin and Belfast Inter-City Cup 1942-49 and the Blaxnit Cup 1968-74. It's difficult now in the 1990's to appreciate the importance attached to say the Inter City Cup in the 1940's. For most of that period no official Internationals were played and the European club competitions were still a thing of the future. Without television or other distractions associated with the modern era full houses at Dalymount Park where League of Ireland clubs played at home, and the various Belfast venues were the norm. The remaining Competitions in order of appearance were the North/South Cup, Blaxnit Cup, Texaco Cup and Tyler Cup. In all 29 clubs from North and South took part and a table of this participation appears at the end of the section.

Gerry Desmond

Having come out of retirement to go on stand-by duty for the World Cup qualifier against Latvia, Leesider Gerry saw his hopes of a 75th Cap shattered with the unexpected call-up of Alan Kernaghan. So, the old boots have finally been hung up but he should return one last time if his proposed testimonial against China next May is sanctioned, as expected, by Merrion Square. In the immediate future he plans to revolutionise librarianship and, after compulsory marriage guidance counselling, hopes to be re-united with Theresa, his ever-patient wife, who has suggested "some damage might happen" to his programme collection if he didn't "grow up". (They just don't really understand, do they?) Gerry is a member of Cork City Supporters Club, the Irish Programme Club and in his lucid moments, the Association of Football Statisticians.

Dave Galvin

Born Dublin and thirtysomething!, Dave has long been domiciled in Cork and it is here during the golden era of Hibernians and Celtic that this passion for football has its roots. He remembers with affection "those countless childhood visits to the "Lodge" and the "Cross" with Dad and how the sun always seems to have been shining: Dave is a member of Cork City Supporters Club, the Irish Programme Club and the Association of Football Statisticians. An environmental technician with A.D.M. Ringaskiddy, he lives with wife Mary and sons Stephen and Paul in Ballintemple Cork City.
